ADLAI STEVENSON

Stevenson Will Run

CHICAGO (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson announced today he will run for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination.

Stevenson issued a long-expected statement saying "I shall do all I can to persuade the Democrats" to give him the presidential nomination again.

His statement emphasized: "First, I believe it important for the Democratic party to resume the executive direction of our national affairs."

"Second, I am assured that my candidacy would be welcomed by representative people in and out of my party throughout the country."

"Third, I believe any citizen should make whatever contribution he can to the search for a safer, saner world."

Stevenson was not on hand when the statement was issued in his campaign headquarters here but he planned to read the text later before television cameras.

Israel Rejects Offer

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion tonight rejected with hardly any reservation British Prime Minister Eden's offer to mediate the dispute between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

Pearson Optimistic On Arab-Jew Peace

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said today that there is a "very good chance" that a peace settlement will be reached between Israel and the Arab states.

On his return from his tour to Russia and Asia he told reporters that he had been assured in Cairo by Premier Nasser that Egypt is looking for a peaceful solution of present fighting.

Mr. Pearson, looking fit even after a 15-hour trip from London in an RCAF C-5 plane, said he also had been assured in Cairo that Egyptian purchase

Victoria is assured of warmer temperatures tonight and Wednesday but the district will be lashed by 50-mile-an-hour gales along with a light snowfall.

The weatherman predicts an overnight low of 25 degrees compared with Monday night's low of 17 as the worst November cold wave in more than half a century showed signs of breaking.

"We are now over the hump and can expect considerable relief," he stated.

He said the mercury on Wednesday will climb to a high of about 38 degrees compared to Monday's high of 24.9.

The snow is expected to turn to rain Wednesday afternoon.

FAURE HANDED NEW SETBACK

PARIS (UP)—The French senate handed Premier Edgar Faure a crushing defeat tonight by defeating by a thumping majority his bill calling for December elections.

Parliamentary observers said the defeat could plunge the country into its 21st post-war political crisis.

Driver Dies In Qualicum Truck Crash

QUALICUM BEACH—Elmer Grandberg, 33, of Campbell River, was killed near here Monday at 2 p.m. when his small panel truck struck the rear end of a Highway Department truck one mile north of Bowser.

Force of the impact sheared off a large part of the right side of the small truck, police said. Dr. M. Urie, Parksville, was called to the scene, but found Grandberg dead.

The crew of the government truck was sanding a hill, and had stopped the large vehicle while a workman loosened the load. He said the small truck neither swerved nor slowed down as it approached.

Remains were taken to Courtenay, where an inquest will be held Wednesday afternoon, with Coroner T. Menzies presiding.

The accident victim is survived by his widow and a daughter at Campbell River, and his mother in Nanaimo.

Reds Reveal 4th Plan on Disarmament

GENEVA (UP)—The Soviet Union introduced a new proposal on disarmament today, shortly after the West rejected three other Moscow proposals on a European security treaty and withdrawal of foreign troops from Germany.

The disarmament plan called for a four-power declaration pledging the Big Four to refrain from the use of force. It called also for continued consideration of Soviet and western disarmament proposals, including President Eisenhower's "open sky" plan.

The western Big Three planned to issue a declaration to the German people tonight or Wednesday, laying the blame for failure of the foreign ministers conference to unify Germany on the Soviet Union.

EX-B.C. PAIR BOUGHT $125,000 INSURANCE

CHICAGO (AP)—Two former British Columbians, victims of the United Airlines plane crash caused by a dynamite bomb, purchased $125,000 of insurance before starting the trip, lawyer W. W. Browning said today.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Morgan, of Wilmette, Ill., each purchased the maximum amount of coverage, $62,500, at an insurance machine at Chicago's Midway Airport.

Browning represents the couple's two minor children, who were named beneficiaries.

The Morgans formerly resided in Vancouver, B.C. The plane crashed Nov. 1 near Longmont, Colo., and John Gilbert Graham confessed in Denver Monday that he rigged the bomb that wrecked the plane in flight.

(Compiled From AP and UP Dispatches)

DENVER—Jack Graham told a reporter Monday night he rigged 25 sticks of dynamite into a time bomb that shattered an airliner in mid-air, Nov. 1, killing his mother and 43 others.

He said that after he put his mother—and the bomb—aboard the plane, he waited in the airport coffee shop until he heard the plane had been wrecked. Then he took his wife and child to the home his dead mother had helped him to buy.

Ironically, it cost the mother—Mrs. Daisy E. King, 54—$27.82 to get the time bomb aboard the plane.

Graham had hidden the bomb in her suitcase, making her luggage 27 pounds over weight.

He did it for $37,500 in air-trip insurance—but he can't collect; his mother didn't sign the policies he purchased in a 25-cent insurance machine in Denver airport.

Graham, 23-year-old convicted forger, on whom his mother doted, told the story of the bombing to David Stolberg of the Rocky Mountain News, a Denver newspaper.

He said he plotted construction of the bomb for nearly two weeks.

Into it went 25 sticks of dynamite, several pounds of packing, a timing device, a six-volt dry-cell battery, and two dynamite caps.

The bomb was designed to explode 90 minutes after the time-clock was set.

The explosion in the United Airlines' plane occurred just 11 minutes after the airliner left Denver.

Graham said he unpacked part of the contents of a large suitcase belonging to his mother and replaced them with the bomb.

"I placed this suitcase in the trunk of my car with another smaller suitcase and a briefcase which my mother was to take with her on the trip," he said. She was going to Anchorage, Alaska, to visit a daughter.

'Separation Would Be Detrimental'

(UP, Reuters Dispatches)
LONDON — Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden rejected today a Laborite's demand for separation of Church and State as a result of Princess Margaret's shattered romance.

Eden refused to consider the proposal for an independent investigation into relationships between the government and Britain's established church. The suggestion came from Labor member of parliament Stephen Swinger, whose grand-uncle was Archbishop of Canterbury and head of the established Church of England early in this century.

"No representations in favor of disestablishment have been received from a responsible representative body," Eden said.

WIDENING GAP

Swinger, posing the question in Commons, explained that the romance of Margaret and RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend, a divorced man, revealed the "widening gap" between the laws of the land and the doctrines of the church which does not recognize divorce.

He pointed out that both the Church of England and the Free Church Federal Council, made up of other Protestant denominations, had each appointed commissions to investigate the problem.

"Both reports indicate that separation of the church and state at the present juncture would be to the detriment of the church and the nation," Eden said.

Eden is in a particularly ticklish spot—he is a divorced man and his second marriage, to a niece of Sir Winston Churchill, is not recognized by the church. Yet as prime minister, he participates in the selection of archbishops and bishops of the church.

ILLOGICAL

On Sunday, the rural Dean of Hammersmith told a congregation in historic St. Paul's Cathedral that the present situation is "blasphemy." And today, the Laborite Daily Herald and the Conservative Daily Express joined in calling for disestablishment of the Church of England.

"Nobody will deny that it is illogical to have bishops appointed by prime ministers who have included a Welsh Baptist, a Scottish Presbyterian and a Unitarian," said the Herald. "A prime minister who happens to belong to the Church of Rome is always an interesting possibility."

George Gale, writing in the Daily Express, said "there is nothing like the established Church of England anywhere else in the world."

"It's most fundamental beliefs are set out in a schedule to an act of parliament. The head of the church is the head which happens to wear the crown," he said.

Gale said the union between church and state has produced

CAMERA CAPERS

Art Gallery Offers Pleasant 'Voyage'

By GWLADYS DOWNES
One of the pleasantest ways this week to forget the chilly temperatures is to visit the fifteenth International Salon of Photography, arranged by the Victoria Camera Club as a public service at the Art Gallery.

There you can let the camera take you into desert country, over high wooded hills, or into corners of the great cities of Europe.

You can move over the waves with the yacht's full-sailed freedom, or follow the traces left on the sand by the receding tide. You can go into the studios of all the artists who make beautiful photographs out of lights and shadows falling on the most simple objects—gloves, bottles, or a window-sill.

In fact, by the time you have made the rounds of the entries, you will feel as if you had been for a long voyage.

The technical side of the art of photography is so well-managed in the exhibition that one realizes how thoroughly it has replaced realism in painting for recording detail.

Auto Club to Ask Highways Office For Island Area

Victoria Automobile Club will protest the establishment of a new regional office in Vancouver which would administer highways on Vancouver Island. R. B. Wilson and W. J. Clark will place the club's protest before the minister of highways this week.

They will argue that an office under Mr. Gagliardi's new decentralization plan should be established on Vancouver Island to manage the highways here.

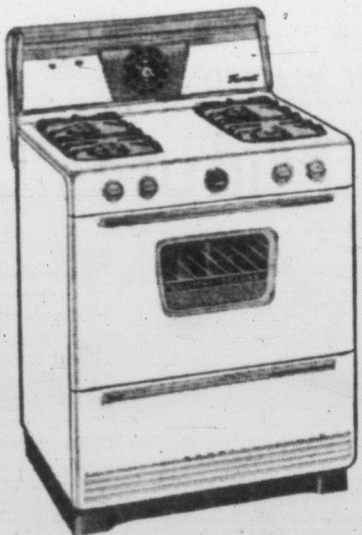

They will also ask that slow traffic lanes be established on uphill grades of the Island Highway between Goldstream and Mill Bay.

"These would be similar to a slow lane already established on the Goldstream stretch of the highway by suicide corner," an official of the Automobile Club said today.

HOLLY FOR LAMP POST BASKETS?

The Chamber of Commerce wants to establish Victoria as the Holly Capital of North America.

It is proposing this Christmas to send baskets of holly to mayors of Canadian cities across Canada and possibly to the mayors of a few western cities in the U.S.

And if the idea is approved at city hall, a message from the Mayor of Holly Capital will go with each basket.

The Holly Capital theme may be carried further by hanging some 250 baskets of holly from city lamp posts in place of the summer flower baskets for which Victoria is famous.

"We are seeking the directors' approval of an all-out Holly Capital campaign," Arnold Webb, secretary of the Chamber's civic affairs group said today.

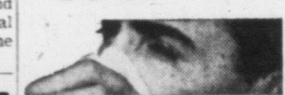

Riders Seek U.S. Coach

OTTAWA (CP)—The Citizen says that Ottawa Rough Riders, on the search for a head football coach, have invited assistant coach Herman Ball of Pittsburgh Steelers for an interview.

Ball, 45, is former coach of Washington Redskins, and has a 20-year record in United States football as a coach and scout.

The newspaper said Monday Ball declined comment during a telephone call to Pittsburgh on the report. He did not deny the Big Four football club had been in touch with him.

Saskatchewan Law On Debts Invalid

OTTAWA (CP)—The Saskatchewan Moratorium Act which permits that province's government to postpone for two years payment of debts by private persons was declared invalid today by the Supreme Court of Canada.

Debts owed by corporations and the provincial government were not involved in the Saskatchewan law.

The decision reversed a judgment of the Saskatchewan Court of Appeals which ruled the act valid in a reference on its constitutionality sought by the provincial attorney-general.

The act was adopted by the Saskatchewan legislature in 1953. Apart from permitting postponement of payment of debts, it exempted debtors from civil action.

A second Saskatchewan statute, the Provincial Mediation Board Act, set up a board designed to bring about amicable arrangement for payment of debts. It was not at issue in the court.

However, the attorney-general in the case, argued before the Supreme Court that the two acts, when operating side by side, in effect perpetuated provisions of the old Saskatchewan Debt Adjustment Act.

The Saskatchewan statute was repealed after similar Alberta legislation was declared ultra vires of provincial powers by the Supreme Court of Canada, in 1941 and the judicial committee of the Privy Council in 1943.

Both the Saskatchewan and Alberta Debt Adjustment Acts provided that the provincial governments could issue orders postponing debt payments and prohibit processes in civil actions for non-payment.

Cold Hits Crops For $100,000 Loss

VANCOUVER (CP)—A frigid blast of winter may have cost Fraser valley vegetable growers $100,000.

A provincial department of agriculture spokesman said it was still too early to estimate damage to the Fraser valley.

In addition to the expected potato loss, frost has hit about 5,500 tons of carrots and about 100 tons of turnips.

He predicted a temporary shortage of the vegetables in Vancouver stores.

7 IN WEST VAN. TO SUE PGE FOR FLOOD LOSSES

WEST VANCOUVER (CP)—Seven home-owners here will file claims against the Pacific Great Eastern Railway for recent flood damage.

A spokesman, George Simmonds, told municipal council of the proposed action Monday night and charged the railway with "stupidity" in not putting adequate culverts under its right-of-way.

Council told Mr. Simmonds to prepare a list of losses for presentation to the government in Victoria Wednesday when Reeves Jack Richardson of West Vancouver and Grant Currie of North Vancouver meet Premier Bennett to discuss flood damage.

Mr. Simmonds, a retired civil engineer, said the seven home-owners already have told Railways Minister Ralph Chetwynd they will enter claims.

Exchange Asks For 'Free' Price In Wheat Sales

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Winnipeg Grain Exchange predicted today that farmers will still have trouble selling wheat 25 years from now and called on Canada to make the law—of supply and demand—an ally rather than an enemy in meeting marketing challenges.

In a brief before the Gordon Economic Commission, the exchange maintained that compulsory marketing of grain under prairie pools protects inefficiency.

The grain exchange agreed governments must aid farmers in times of stress, but this aid "must be tendered on the basis of need and should be flexible enough to be withdrawn when not required by the economics of the situation then prevailing."

The exchange was among a number of farm and grain bodies represented before the commission today as it began its second day of hearings in this provincial capital.

The commission has been charged by the federal government with the job of forecasting the shape of Canada's economy in the next 25 years.

Forecasting a rise in Canada's population to perhaps 25,000,000 by 1980, the grain exchange estimated there will be a continued rise in eastern Canadian markets for Prairie coarse grains.

CAN'T SEE REDUCTIONS

But though total Prairie land planted to wheat may drop by 1980, it is difficult to anticipate significant reductions in total wheat production. Even 25 years from now Canada will still need big export markets for her wheat surpluses, the grain exchange said.

"It appears, therefore, that the production and successful exportation of substantial quantities of wheat will be a continuing economic fact with which western Canadian agriculture must grapple during the next quarter-century, and probably longer."

The exchange was sure Canada can compete in the world wheat market, but felt that it should allow the price to be determined by the market place.

Careless Driving Results in Fines Of $35 for Two

Careless driving charges brought fines of $35 each for Peter Bogaerts, 3284 Alder, and Edward G. Gray, 1312 Broad, when they appeared in Esquimalt police court Monday.

Police said Bogaerts was driving a milk delivery truck south on Lampon on Nov. 8 when he collided with the rear of a car driven near Devonshire, resulting in total damage of $670.

Court was told Gray failed to obey a stop sign on Admirals and Lyall on Nov. 9 and was involved in a two-car collision causing damage of $750.

Magistrate Henry C. Hall suspended Gray's licence and restricted Bogaerts to driving for business only for one month.

Jehovah's Witness Wins Court Action

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada today ordered three Quebec provincial policemen to pay $2,000 damages for breaking up a Jehovah's Witnesses meeting in the home of Esmier Chaput. The court did not rule on the constitutional validity of the Quebec law under which the officers claimed immunity in the Quebec courts.

The constitutional issue was not considered by the court because counsel for the three officers declined to argue in the Supreme Court that the Quebec Magistrate's Act gave his clients a defence for their action.

The decision held three police officers—Edmond Romain, Linden Young and Roger Chartrand—jointly and severally responsible for the damages.

The costs throughout the lower courts in Quebec and in the Supreme Court were charged to them.

The Quebec Superior Court and Court of Appeals had ruled against Mr. Chaput who originally sought $5,000 damages from the three policemen. They broke up a Sunday afternoon meeting of about 35 Jehovah's Witnesses in Mr. Chaput's Chateau, Que., home Sept. 4, 1949. Mr. Chaput alleged they violated his religious freedom and rights as a citizen and illegally seized a Bible and other religious literature at his home.

Evidence introduced in Quebec Superior Court was that the gathering was listening to readings from the Bible by an Ottawa evangelist when the three officers entered the Chaput farm home. The policemen dispersed the gathering and escorted the evangelist to an Ottawa River ferry bound for Pembroke, Ont.

They brought no charge against Mr. Chaput or others at the meeting.

Premier Sees 'Some Improvement' In New T-C Highway Cost Offer

Premier W. A. C. Bennett Monday saw "some improvement" in the federal government's new offer on the Trans-Canada Highway.

"It is at least a better arrangement than the old arrangement," the premier commented.

Federal Works Minister Robert Winters told a federal-provincial conference on the long-delayed highway Monday that Ottawa would pay 90 per cent of the cost on 10 per cent of total Trans-Canada mileage in each province.

The 90-10 arrangement would apply to those sections which are still unpaved.

The move is designed to speed up Trans-Canada construction across the nation.

Rigid T-C construction standards will be eased on the 10 per cent involved, and Ottawa hopes for a good paved road across Canada by March, 1960.

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi and top highways department officials are attending the conference.

Premier Bennett said the existing 50-50 agreement on Trans-Canada costs is "not 50-50 at all." He said that in B.C. "we hold that the federal government has only paid about 40 per cent of the Trans-Canada Highway."

The premier said Ottawa splits only construction costs, while the province has to foot the bill for right-of-way and such "extras" as a third lane up steep grades for slow traffic.

He said B.C. needs "five" trans-provincial highways, and that the provincial government intends building them.

"If B.C. has to bear the full cost of four, then the federal government should pay the full cost of one," he said.

Wheat and Mr. Winch

MR. HAROLD WINCH M.P. RECENTLY wrote us about the wheat problem—his thoughts appeared on this page—and requested an answer to certain points. He is entitled to an answer.

He asks, in the first place, how it is that some countries have managed to maintain or increase their wheat exports while the exports of Canada have fallen. This fall he attributes to the stupidity of Mr. Howe, minister of trade and commerce.

Mr. Winch seems to forget that Mr. Howe does not sell our wheat. It is sold by the Wheat Board. If anyone is to blame for our falling exports—and they have not fallen very drastically—it is the Wheat Board and the theory of compulsory central selling.

It takes an expert much more informed about the complex business of grain than Mr. Winch to judge whether the Wheat Board sells wisely or unwisely. But about one thing there is no doubt—our present selling system is socialism applied to the sale of wheat, oats and barley.

The Wheat Board is the largest socialist enterprise ever undertaken in Canada—and doubtless in America. It is the system which the C.C.F. would apply to most or all of our great industries. If, as Mr. Winch seems to think, socialism in the grain industry is being bungled that fact will hardly encourage the Canadian people to apply the same system generally throughout our economy.

Mr. Winch then goes on to argue that Canada should give its wheat away or sell it for foreign currencies that we cannot presently use; and in the course of his argument he misrepresents what was said here in the first place.

He says that many foreigners need wheat and we have an unsaleable surplus. Therefore, in charity, we should export our wheat without payment, or with payment in foreign currencies which may or may not be useful to us later on. Here Mr. Winch confuses two separate questions—charity and business.

It is one thing to give away wheat, cash or anything else for reasons of charity. It is quite a different thing to suppose that these gifts can possibly help to solve our wheat problem. Certainly we can afford to give away some wheat where it is needed and finance those gifts in taxes on the public at large. But when we give away our real wealth we are that much poorer, however the fact may be disguised in terms of money.

Assuredly we cannot long maintain our prairie farm industry on that basis—subsidizing farmers to produce a crop which earns us nothing.

The United States is doing that on a large scale but the United States is a country rich enough to afford it. Canada is not. To the United States wheat is a small item in the general economy. With us it is a major item and at the moment represents well over a billion dollars in stored wealth.

Mr. Winch then argues that Canada has given away money in the Colombo Plan and certain armaments for the defence of Europe. Why not give away wheat in the same way? A moment's thought will show the fallacy of that parallel.

In the Colombo Plan we are giving away some $26 millions this year and will give away more next year. This is all the money that the Canadian Government and Parliament think we can afford for such purposes. If we gave away the same amount in the form of wheat, thus doubling the cost of foreign aid at the cost of the taxpayers, this would be hardly a drop in the bucket of the great grain surplus.

As for armament gifts, these are regarded as an essential part of our defence, a cost which we must afford. Mr. Winch may argue that we should be exporting grain instead of weapons—but we certainly cannot afford to do both on any large scale—on a scale sufficient to make any serious dent in the wheat surplus.

Or, as was said here before, if we are finally driven into such a policy by the dumping methods of our American neighbors, let us not fool ourselves about the results. They may ease the surplus and help the farmers temporarily. They cannot touch the real problem, which is to convert wheat into usable money.

Mr. Winch is commendably frank in saying that his proposed give-away of wheat must be paid by the taxpayer. That does not alarm him in the least. He says we subsidize other people and why not the farmer?

The trouble with this argument is that any subsidy sufficient to support the farmer under present conditions would be larger than the taxpayers of the nation would be willing to pay; and, secondly, that no nation in its senses would embark on any long-term system of subsidizing an unsaleable product and thus encouraging farmers to produce the wrong thing.

However, this does not appear to be the long-run problem we are facing. We are holding a grain surplus for the time being, we are still selling large quantities of wheat, we may have to give some of it away but cycles of surplus have occurred before and have passed. This, too, should pass under changing conditions of weather, if the government and the wheat industry keep their heads.

Come One, Come All?

THE GOVERNMENT OF BRITISH Columbia must surely have established a dangerous precedent when it voted $2,500 of the people's money to a commercially-sponsored intermediate football team last week.

Dozens of organizations throughout British Columbia, serving thousands of citizens on a volunteer basis, appeal annually to the government for grants and get less than this.

On whose authority did Secretary

Black make this decision? And where does the Government propose to draw the line?

Surely, if a travelling football team can obtain such a handsome concession, every other sports and cultural organization in the province is entitled to equal treatment, providing they are "carrying the name of British Columbia" into national or international fields. Thinking people will clearly recognize this gift as indefensible.

President Eisenhower Goes Home

CANADIAN INTEREST IN THE United States presidential election campaign, already under way, will continue until next November. This country's affairs are so closely interwoven with those of our big neighbor that the politics of Washington are of vital importance to us—particularly on such issues as trade and tariffs.

But this week Canadians and Americans probably set aside considerations of policy in a combined expression of satisfaction over the recovery of President Eisenhower—a recovery which has reached the point where he may convalesce at his Gettysburg farm.

In war and in peace President

Eisenhower has proved himself a good friend of Canada. The record speaks for itself. Because of it, no less than because of his personality, Canadians join their friends across the border in expressing the hope that "Ike" will continue to progress toward complete physical recovery from his heart attack.

As he goes home, perhaps to resume official business he could not assume during his period in hospital, the thoughts of this continent will turn to the man, rather than to his office. May he regain the health he lost in the execution of his duties, whether it be for a return to arduous labors or for the enjoyment of a more leisurely life he so richly deserves.

On Their Own

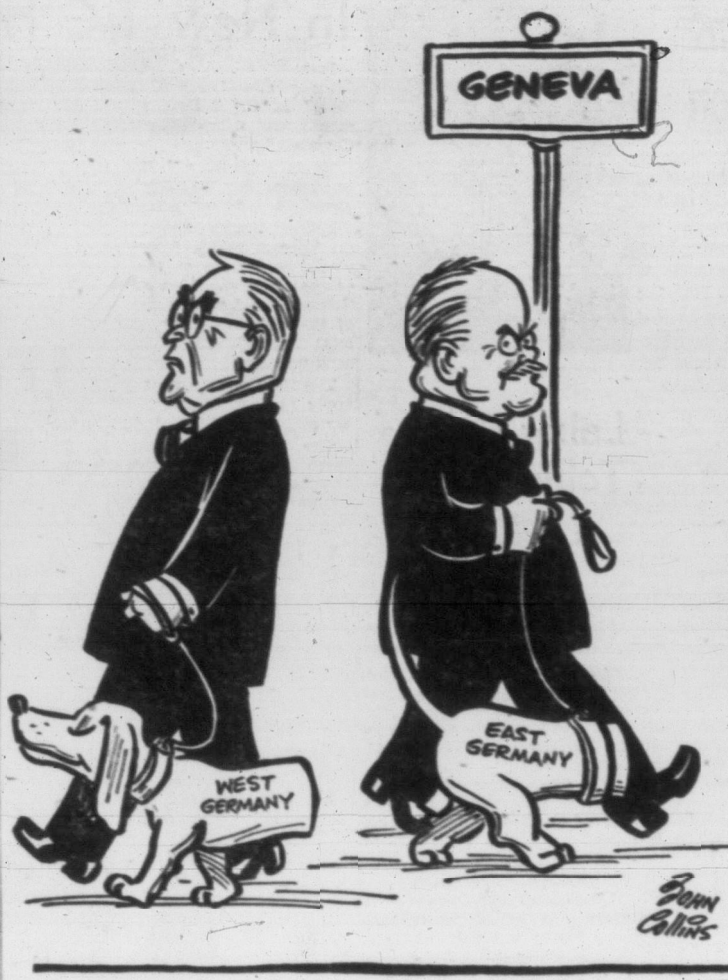

CITY COUNCIL APPEARS TO have been in somewhat of a holiday mood as it met last Thursday, but a relaxation from tensions, a freedom from grandfatherly supervision, did not prevent it from performing its proper functions. Indeed, the atmosphere was conducive to debate and decision. The city's business was handled with good will and dispatch.

It was unfortunate that Mayor Harrison, absent on official duties elsewhere, was unable to witness the harmony and attention to practical business that prevailed. The only references to legal stumbling blocks or constitutional restrictions were of a humorous nature.

For the first time in a long period the Council seemed to be working as a team—a condition that cannot fail to be beneficial whether in football or civic affairs. This might well be something for candidates, and voters, to keep in mind as the elections draw near.

The Everwhite Playground

A WAKENING the other morning to find the Evergreen Playground and the Little Bit of England suddenly turned pale and quite unrecognizable, many residents of these parts were baffled. I am now able to inform the public, after some diligent research, that the white stuff lying on the ground is snow.

That word is not to be found in our coastal lexicon but, though you will hardly believe it, it is written in the Canadian dictionary and quite familiar to the primitive tribes living somewhere east of the coast mountains. We have never noticed it before, but snow, as this stuff is called in the tribal dialects, has been quite common in Canada for a considerable time.

NOW, I am not quite clear about the causes of snow. My research didn't go that far for I was busy with other things, including a shovel, an axe, saw, and bread crumbs for the birds. But I gather that snow has something to do with temperature, and temperature is another thing with which no law-abiding coastal man is familiar.

We can safely ignore temperature, since it is no part of our normal climate and we can disregard snow for it really doesn't belong to us but is only a kind of rather premature Christmas card sent by the aborigines of Canada as a gesture of good will. Let us show our appreciation by sending it back, intact. I am all for international co-operation, even with the most primitive tribes.

ON second thoughts, however, we should not be too generous to the Canadians. We ought to keep some of this snow because obviously it is a great improvement on our normal terrain.

Why, a week ago one could look out on nothing but a dismal and monotonous sweep of green which seemed likely to last until spring, when we might expect more of the same, and worse.

Then, overnight, the landscape took on the hard, glinting beauty of a diamond. Having nothing better to offer the tourists, we have long boasted that our Playground was Evergreen, making a rather pathetic virtue of our poverty. Now we really have something to offer our guests.

At the moment it looks as if we might be able to claim an Everwhite Playground for six months at least, with a little luck. Just imagine what Mr. George I. Warren and the Chamber of Commerce can do with that, once they get thawed out!

PERSONALLY, I regard this blessing too highly to commercialize it. I would never share it with visitors. I would hoard it for ourselves. An Evergreen Playground is good enough for tourists. We deserve something better. In this vital matter of climate I confess I am a rigid protectionist like the Conservatives and Social Crediters. I would keep our money—especially this blank white cheque called snow—strictly at home.

It takes a little getting used to though. The great mistake is to cover indoors as if snow were something to be afraid of. Like the Canadians, we should sally out to meet it, on its own terms.

All you need by way of equipment is a good axe and saw and you can en-

ABNORMAL OFFENDERS
Perhaps it can be said in a sense that the normal offender—if one may use such a term—tends to grow out of his delinquency as he comes to middle-age. But the abnormal offender—the man whose personality defects are constitutional—grows into it. It's the abnormal offenders who form the hard core of recidivists, those offenders who in the course of a lifetime may spend more time in prison than out of it.

joy a glorious and inexpensive vacation from our usual drab winter. I was reveling in snow and cordwood all last week-end while some of my more unfortunate friends, the underprivileged members of society, were lying bored and sunburned on the beaches of California and Honolulu. Even with the blessings of Social Credit, our society is still cruel and unjust.

HOWEVER, as I could do nothing for the exiles of the south I sensibly decided to take full advantage of my opportunity while it lasted and had cut half a cord of wood before my fingers felt off, and felt, indeed, almost like a Canadian.

Temperature has other advantages not generally recognized in these parts. When the thermometer fell to zero out here in Saanich (I don't care what the Observers say, for I can read my own thermometer) it saved us country folk a great deal of work.

Look at those chrysanthemums yonder—I expected to spend the next two months pampering them, potting them up for Christmas and picking bouquets for my friends. All that trouble has been avoided.

Out in the orchard the last of several trees of apples won't need picking now. Nature has attended to that and the seagulls are enjoying a feast. And without snow many dead trees would never have been cut up and burned.

THERE is only one drawback to snow hereabouts—it won't last, I'm afraid. Even in Canada, they tell me, it doesn't last long, almost disappearing every year at midsummer. We can hardly expect to avoid a return of our grim Evergreen Playground by April at the latest. Let us enjoy our gift from Canada while we may, gathering real snowdrops for once instead of the pale imitations now mercifully buried.

AS THE CHIPS FALL

On a Forest Commission, a Collision

(Fourth of a series discussing the MacMillan bill to the B.C. Forest Commission on Forestry.)
ONE of the 55 recommendations closing the MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. brief to the Royal Commission on Forestry urges "that British Columbia do not appoint a Forest Board or Commission to administer the forests."

In his 1945 report on the earlier commission, Chief Justice Sloan said: "It is my opinion that a Forest Commission should be created."

At this point, the Chief Justice's earlier opinion and that of Mr. MacMillan seem to collide head-on.

Mr. MacMillan has, however, built himself a turn-out which could avoid a clash. He says, "A commission might be justifiable if . . . and he sets out certain circumstances which might, in his view, warrant such a body."

The Chief Justice's position in 1945 was explicit. A commission, he said, was required to assure the long-range effectiveness of a sustained yield program. It was necessary to avoid the pitfalls of possible short-term financing by the Government and the exigencies that might arise in a fluctuating provincial economy.

Forest revenues, he pointed out, might be unavailable for required forestry work because some other public demand might establish a priority. Hence long-term financing for long-range forestry might be impossible.

EFFICIENT COMMISSIONS
The commissioner cited as examples of efficient and valuable public service bodies such agencies as the Workmen's Compensation Board, Health Insurance Commission, Public Utility Commission, Liquor Commission and Unemployment Insurance Commission.

A Forestry Commission, the Chief Justice held, would have two main purposes: "First, to formulate and administer a long term system of planned forest management and forest industry

As Our Readers See It

WHAT HAVE WE DONE TO HELP?

While the misbehaviour of some of our young folks on Halloween cannot be condoned, it should serve, to all thoughtful people, as an indication of our failure to develop the maturity in these young people that they should have attained by this time.

Righteous indignation has no place in such a situation. It is much easier to point the finger of condemnation at others than to take any responsibility ourselves. However, while the home does have the most confident influence on the development of the child's personality, the community also has a responsibility in this respect.

The transition from childhood to adulthood is a most difficult one and our young people need at this time our faith in them and our leadership. We might well ask ourselves what we have done in this respect. Judging by the aimless wandering around town on a Saturday night of many of our youngsters we might well ponder what we have to offer them. It seems to me that the time has come to organize a youth centre in this city where young people could meet and indulge in activities of a more constructive nature. I am much interested in this problem and would be glad to hear from others who are of a like mind.

(MRS.) E. FRANKHAM,
123 Cambridge street.

SPARED THE SORROW

As a friend and occasional co-worker with the late Rev. Stanley Redman, I am very grateful that he is not here to take part in the controversy and difficult situation he has unintentionally created for the Rev. Glen Stevenson of Alberni.

Having known the Redman family from the time Stanley and Reg were young men training for the then Methodist ministry, I am sure this is the very last thing he would have wished to do, to place a fellow minister of any denomination in the unfortunate position his good friend now finds himself.

My personal interpretation of church laws is that they are intended as guides to help us do more effective work and not to act as an arrogant master which dictates in cases of emergency and takes our sense of fairness and good Christian judgment away from us.

If laws can bring about such a situation as this then it's time those laws were changed.

The higher the position a man holds in the church the more he should aim to exemplify the spirit of his master and until this is so it will not be easy to convince the common man that Christianity is the best guide for our daily living.

Problem of Czechoslovakia?

I read recently the article "Problem of Czechoslovakia," written by one of your readers "A. K."

Hitler would be happy if he could read some of his lies, that he and his propaganda minister Goebbels intentionally fabricated about Czechoslovakia, lies being still printed in the free world.

Before the Second World War Czechoslovakia was definitely one of the most advanced democratic countries in the world for everybody living there, including the members of Czechoslovakia's minorities. Regarding this truth nothing can be changed despite the fact that in the time of the Munich conference most of the Sudeten-Germans followed rather Hitler and his wrong ideas than the democratic ideas of Czechoslovakia's presidents, Thomas G. Masaryk and Eduard Benes. The Nazis were on their march.

The decision of the Munich conference sacrificed Czechoslovakia to "save the peace in our time." Many lies were published about Czechoslovakia to make this fatal step more bearable. For this purpose Lord Runciman was sent there to investigate the situation. Because he came in contact with only the people who served the Nazis and their ideology to dominate the world, he could not make any other report than that one which corresponded to the Goebbels' propaganda spread by reporters. One year later after the Munich conference, everybody could see if this sacrifice of Czechoslovakia was correct or not.

Unfortunately, after Munich, came conferences in Teheran and Yalta. Again the fate of democratic nations in Central Europe was decided without their consent. Czechoslovakia, Poland, Baltic states, Hungary, Romania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria were given as a price for the alliance with Soviet Russia. Communist dictatorship replaced the Nazi one. Democratic freedoms were not re-established.

That could not be achieved by restoration of Austria-Hungary as Mr. A. K. indicates. Under the auspices of the United Nations the free elections might reinstall the human liberties in those countries today enslaved by Soviet Russia would not oppose them. Later the confederation of all European free countries should bring the most satisfactory solution not only for the problem of Czechoslovakia but even for the whole of Europe.

Gets Its Man—The Hard Way

LONDON—The tiniest of clues can bring a murderer to justice. Take this latest example of the way Scotland Yard tracked down their man.

A woman living in Potters Bar, just outside London, took her dog for a walk one evening on the local golf course. When it got late and she had not returned her husband became worried and notified the police. Her battered body was eventually found beside one of the tees.

The police had practically nothing to work on. Only tangible clue they could find was the small portion of the print of someone's blood-stained hand—less than half an inch wide. It was on the tee marker which they reasoned the person had put his or her hand on when getting up after the assault.

Reyburn

As an amateur detective, how would you have gone about tracing the murderer from that minute clue? How the professionals at Scotland Yard went about it was like this: They felt sure the assailant was a local man, so they put a team of their backroom boys to work taking palm prints of every man in the district. They wound up with 17,978 prints—the right and left hands of 8,989 men. Then they sat down to laboriously scrutinize every print and check it against the fragment on the tee marker.

For four months they worked—seven detectives with magnifying glasses literally straining their eyes over the thousands of prints. They had to be rested periodically to take the strain off their eyes. It was a far more arduous task than comparing a fingerprint left on the scene of a crime with those on file at the Yard. There was no way of knowing what part of the palm the tiny blood-stained imprint had been made from, so it also had the frustrating aspect of trying to fit a piece into a jigsaw puzzle.

Even at the end of those four months they were nowhere near in sight of examining all the prints. They had studied only 4,603 of them—without success. But the detective who was handed print No. 4604 had been examining it for but a moment or two when he jumped up excitedly and exclaimed: "I've got it! This is it!"

It was checked and double-checked and, finally, although the blood-stained print was less than half an inch wide, they were able to find 16 points of similarity with the print they had taken of a youth living in the area.

Confronted with this evidence, he confessed, pleaded guilty at his trial at the Old Bailey and was sentenced to be detained during Her Majesty's pleasure.

THIN EDGE OF THE WEDGE—Davy Crockett, up until the last couple of weeks, has been an unknown quantity in England. When Marilyn Bell and company came over here last summer full of the Crockett craze, nobody knew what they were talking about. But now his fame is drifting across the Atlantic. Several papers have carried articles explaining the state he has got the U.S. and Canada into. And one of the numerous children's weeklies announces that they're starting the Davy Crockett strip. 'Twill be interesting to see if he succeeds in putting this country on its ear, too.

YOUR HEALTH

Conquering Inheritance

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

A kind, thoughtful woman recently wrote to say something to counteract the effect of letters that I get from persons who are either angry with me for speaking of the importance of heredity in producing neuroses and psychoses, or who while granting that I am right, object to the truths being told. Many of my correspondents who admitted that there was insanity in their family, seemed to think that if they denied hotly enough that such trouble is ever hereditary, their children would not get it!

My recent correspondent says that her mother died in a mental hospital. She had always been a bit odd, and always suspicious and distrustful even of the ones who loved her most. As the daughter now says, for long she was terribly ashamed of what she felt was the disgrace of her mother's illness. But now she sees that there was no disgrace. Disease of the brain is no more disgraceful than is disease of the lungs or heart or kidney. Besides, the disease came through no fault of the daughter.

But, because many people think as they do, my correspondent gave up a fine career, and for a time became a recluse, ashamed to go out among her friends. She got to feeling very sorry for herself, and this, of course, is a very unwise thing to do. Doubtless the young woman, in behaving in this unwise way, was suffering from a small share of her mother's trouble. Her brother got as his share a tendency to be very moody and at times a bit irrational.

DEPRESSION DEFEATED

Fortunately, as time passed, the woman came out of her spell of depression. She had the good sense to force herself to go out again and meet people. She refused to waste time being sorry for herself; she forced herself again to be friendly with people, and to be concerned more with their troubles than her own (a sure sign of mental health).

My correspondent went on to say that, with great effort, she succeeded in bringing her former terrible temper under control. (This was probably another small share of her mother's trouble). Many annoying things that people did which formerly had bothered her terribly, now she has learned to take in her stride. She has taught herself not to keep constantly worrying about things that are not important or likely ever to happen. She has taught herself to keep busy, and to work without fretting and stewing. She has thrown out of her mind the fear that she will some day go insane, like her mother. She sees now that what I often say to patients is true: she already has her share of the family inheritance; she knows what it is, and it is bearable.

She has clung to her sense of humor and has learned to laugh at herself. This of course, means that she is safe. So long as one has a sense of humor and can laugh, especially at one's self, one will never go insane. The lady is safe, also, because she has her nephews and nieces and does many kind things for them. Anyone who can love is not insane, and not likely to go insane.

The lady writes saying she wants to help others if she can. She wants to help them to avoid the fearful nights, the horrible dreams, and the destructive self-pity that, for a year, wrecked her. Her heart goes out to all those many persons who have to suffer from terrible fears. She wants these persons to get over being terribly selfish and self-centred. She says, "If they would only get disgusted with themselves, instead of giving in, they would soon get well."

She concludes by saying, "I know that you are telling us the truth in order to help us; and I, for one, am benefiting by what you say."

PIN WORMS

Many distracted mothers ask, "Why can't I rid my child of pin worms? I have given any amount of gentian violet and have given endless enemas of quassia tea, and still the child has the worms." So far as I can learn, there hasn't yet been discovered a drug that can be given my mouth to destroy the worms. Many hide in the folds in the inner lining of the bowel and escape the drug that is given.

Experts tell me that if one could keep the child from constantly re-infecting himself, the mother worms in the bowel would soon die out and that would be the end of the trouble. What happens is that, on certain nights, the mother worms come out onto the child's buttocks, there to lay their eggs. The child scratches and gets eggs under his nails. Next day he gets them onto his food and into his mouth, and soon new mother worms are developing in the bowel.

Since several children in a family can infect each other—back and forth—one must treat all of them at the same time. Many experts advise putting each night around the child's anus some sticky ointment that can catch the mother worms when they come out. In addition, every night the child must wear snug pants so that he cannot scratch and cannot pick up eggs in his nails. Panties and sheets must often be well washed to get rid of the eggs. Eggs can go sailing through the air as dust to get onto food.

Enemas may help by washing out many of the worms. My impression is that many mothers are wrong when they ascribe a child's nervousness, irritability or incorrigibility to the worms. After being de-wormed, he may be just as "difficult" as he was before.

All-Year Ferry Being Studied

The possibility of federal aid in operation of a year-round ferry connection with Port Angeles is under study today by the federal maritime commission, Mayor Claude Harrison said today.

He showed reporters a letter from the commission chairman, L. C. Audette, which said the question was being considered and a letter would be sent out on the findings soon.

The mayor has been seeking federal participation to fulfill an obligation he claims was made by the federal government in the terms of union which binds Vancouver Island with the rest of Canada.

How an Atomic Electric Power Plant works

Heat generated by a fuel source of uranium rods in the atomic reactor, or furnace, superheats "heavy" water which is piped through a heat exchanger where ordinary water is turned to steam.

Once steam is created, electricity is generated by a conventional steam-driven turbine-generator. The electricity produced is the same as the electric power we use today.

CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC together with Atomic Energy of Canada Limited and Ontario Hydro to build Canada's first Atomic Electric Power Plant

DRAMATIC proof of Canada's world prominence in the development of nuclear energy for industrial purposes is the atomic electric power plant now being designed for erection near Chalk River, Ontario.

Basically, the plant will consist of an atomic reactor and an electric generator driven by a steam turbine. The heat from the reactor, or furnace, creates the steam to drive the turbine. This unique power plant when completed, will become part of the Ontario Hydro system.

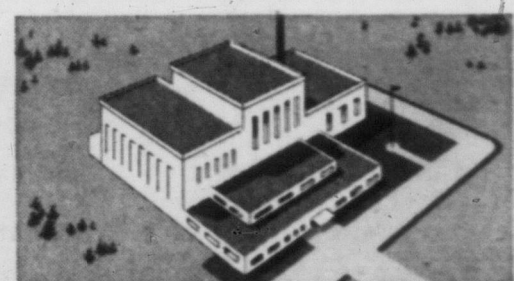

Electricity from the atomic power plant will be exactly the same as the electric power we know today. Only the source of energy to produce the steam is changed. Atomic fission of uranium rods will provide the heat instead of burning coal, oil or gas as in a conventional furnace.

For the complex and challenging assignment of engineering and constructing Canada's first atomic electric power plant, a new organization has been formed within Canadian General Electric—the Civilian Atomic Power Department. Already a hand-picked group of highly qualified people, including top nuclear experts, is working full time on the project.

Canadian General Electric is deeply conscious of its great responsibilities in pioneering this new and vital development. The invaluable knowledge and experience gained from all phases of the work will be freely available to privately and publicly owned power companies across Canada.

It will be a working pilot plant on which to base the atomic electric stations of tomorrow. These may eventually become this country's major source of electricity.

For over 60 years, Canadian General Electric has helped to spread the benefits of electric power throughout this country—building equipment to generate power, transmit it and put it to work. It is gratifying to have this historic opportunity to contribute both experience and a share of the cost to a development that will still further promote the electrical way of living for all Canadians.

Saanich Stands Firm On Sale of City Land

Council Refuses to Return Lake Property Sold for Tax Sale; Court Battle Assured

Saanich council Monday challenged the city to a legal fight over its right to sell the city-owned Beaver Lake property for non-payment of taxes.

Saanich took up the cudgels, after receiving a letter from the city asking Saanich to withdraw the property sale and to return the land to Victoria.

The city warned it would take legal action within a month.

Saanich council refused and instructed its solicitors, Manzer and Wootton, to defend the action when the case goes to the court.

Part of the property in dispute is the 80-odd acres which the city proposed to lease to the Island Turf Club Ltd., for use as a race track and fair ground.

Saanich sold the land at a tax sale to a member of the Elk Lake Ratepayers' Association, which is opposed to a track on the site.

PAID $3,000

The land was bought for about $3,000 by F. P. Jeune, an official of the association.

City solicitor A. J. Patton, in his letter to the council, said the land is not taxable because it is a watershed and was exempted from taxation by a provincial act in 1873.

Reeve Joseph Casey said he sought the legal opinion of Dr. Marsh Gordon, Q.C., on the matter.

The lawyer, he said, was of the same opinion as the municipal solicitors—that the land is taxable.

In view of the council's action, the city will probably take legal action in December, but the case may not be actually heard until January of next year.

If the city should fail in its civil action, it will have no other alternative but to pay the taxes or lose the property, which has been suggested for development into an intermunicipal park.

SWAN TRIES TO DUCK OUT ON POOR WEATHER

A city-owned Elk Lake swan—a tame one—showed up Monday at Becher Bay, 15 miles as the swan flies, from home.

Major G. Ross Davidson captured the swan in a pool on his property and phoned W. H. Warren, city parks administrator.

Mr. Warren wanted to know whether the swan's bill was red or black. Tame swans have red beaks, wild ones have black.

Told it was red, Mr. Warren sent a truck and the swan was driven back to Elk Lake. Those in Beacon Hill are "pinioned" and unable to fly away, but those at Elk, once aloft, can cover great distances quickly.

Mt. Tolmie Car Parties Spark Opposition to New Development

The chamber had suggested a tea room and more adequate parking facilities.

Doting Relatives a Major Cause Of Tooth Decay

So you have tried faithfully to observe the rules of mouth health; you have watched the diets, and enforced the cleansing of teeth immediately after meals; you have done all those things you feel you ought to have done, and still you find cavities re-appearing in your children's teeth at an alarming rate!

Is it germs, hopping from tooth to tooth, dropping tiny drops of acid as they go, that seem to confound our best efforts to control decay? Or could it be the doings of fond relatives, aunts and uncles, grandparents, friends, — yes, and even parents themselves?

Why must it be that the kindly impulses of these often misguided souls should so frequently take the form of gifts of sugary cookies, candies, rich cakes, ice cream smothered in syrupy coatings, and all such confections that are so perfectly adapted to the development of dental decay?

For example, it has been estimated that half a million dollars was spent last Easter on chocolate candy eggs and animal figures alone!

Of course, it is impossible, and certainly not desirable that our children be forbidden all forms of sweets; but do let us recognize the fact that there is a time and place for them when they will do the least harm. That time and place is after having eaten a wholesome, nutritious meal.

Sweet and starchy substances should never be made available between meals, or before serving the main course of the meal, for sweets satisfy the craving for food, without supplying the balanced diet so necessary for growing children.

If we could train ourselves, and the fond relatives and friends of our children to use ingenuity in expressing fondness in other, more practical ways; if we can train our children to expect sweets only after having eaten a regular meal, we shall have taken a great step forward in the control of dental diseases and decay.

Flood Parley Delayed To Wednesday

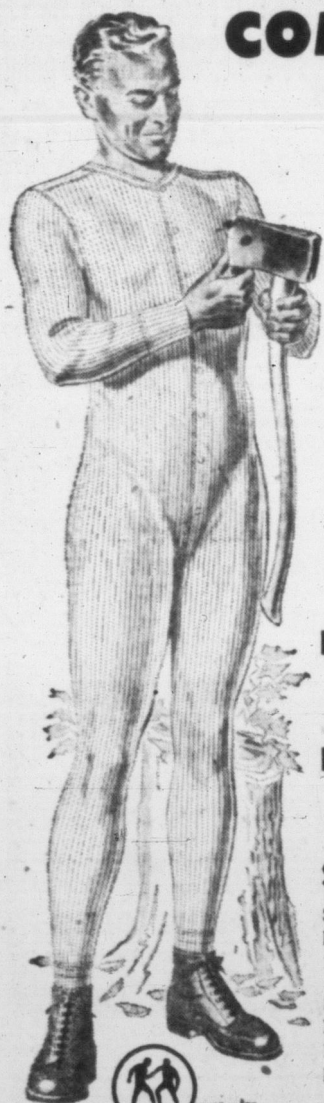

A special conference to discuss the North Vancouver flood picture has been delayed until Wednesday, to allow Premier Bennett and members of the cabinet to attend the funeral today of Social Credit MLA George Moxham, Vancouver Centre.

Originally scheduled for this morning, the meeting will give Reeves of West and North Vancouver an opportunity to urge direct provincial aid for flood victims on the North Shore.

Premier Bennett said Monday the government has "an open mind" until the conclusion of the Wednesday conference. He would not say whether the provincial government intends providing aid.

Zero Weather Likely For Football Playoff

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

The weekend in review: Victoria, or if you like, (Oak Bay) Drakes, went down with colors flying in the Canadian western intermediate football final at Fort William.

It was quite obvious, even before the handwriting became visible, that the Drakes, as the city's representatives, weren't up to the snuff of eastern teams.

But that was to be expected, Victoria being young in Canadian football lore as practiced in other parts of the country.

But it is a start, and the lessons learned undoubtedly will be of great value in the future. On all sides the Drakes received credit for their sportsmanship which, in itself, is a battle won.

Due homage should be tendered them in defeat. Better luck next year fellows. The type of determination that has seen you come from nowhere to the Dominion semifinal through those initial trying years of paper-padded uniforms and only enough helmets for the starting 12, will eventually result in success.

Victoria Cougars are tenderly rubbing their bruised chins today following a heavy and completely fruitless weekend of action which was a dull negative on three counts.

It wasn't so much that the Calgary defeat (7-1) Friday was totally unexpected; the margin hurt most.

But when the Cats blew a two-goal lead at Westminster Saturday in their 4-2 loss and followed with a futile display against Vancouver Canucks here Monday, the silence was deafening.

The Stamps, quite obviously are the power to be reckoned with in the Western Hockey League this year, provided always, of course, that coach Frank Currie can keep his vets sticking to the business at hand.

It has always been a chore for Frank to do this, the old-timers who form the powerful nucleus of the cowboys being a confident lot who oftentimes slip into the lackadaisical splendor that accompanies success.

In that one, that 7-1 lacing, the Stamps could do little wrong, the Cougars, little right. Of those intangibles such results are born.

Saturday, it was, reports say, a lax defence, and penalties, which told the tale at Westminster.

Production Departments Not Producing

Monday, it was obviously as coach Eddie Olson remarked, "mistakes, mistakes, mistakes." And it was a dispirited performance as well.

It is rather odd that such a change has come over the club. The zip has gone, frustration is evident, and fear seems to have gripped the players.

The addition of Ray Ceresino could be a pleasant move although the usually speedy winger is woefully shy on conditioning at the moment.

It is the hope that he can provide the club with the needed depth in Olson's current and, to date, unsuccessful search for two other forward units to go with the Doug Anderson-Doug Macauley-Colin Kilburn threesome, which, after all, has been bearing a heavy burden.

Thus, it is humbly suggested, the duties of the other two lines become self explanatory if that has not already been made clear.

The word is out, too, that bar-room adjectives no longer will be tolerated. It came in the form of two $100 fines Monday by league president Al Leader, to Ed Dorohoy of the Americans and Vic Lynn of the Saskatchewan Quakers.

However, unfortunate this action may seem to some, it was awfully necessary and should prove equally as conclusive.

Mr. Leader has indicated the crack-down is in effect. For that he is to be congratulated, other offenders please note.

HAVE-NOTS SUDDENLY HAVE

Goalies Waging Tight NHL Duel

MONTREAL (CP)—The new look about the National Hockey League standings these days is not confined to the presence of last season's have-nots in the more elevated perches. For the first time this season the weekly official statistics show no ties in the scramble for preferred positions.

Another oddity is that for the second time in the current campaign the goals-against averages of the netminders are all below 3.00. Such a situation didn't occur in any of the weekly compilations all through last season.

Netsminder Jacques Plante of Montreal Canadiens, who allowed only one goal in three games last week, is setting a sizzling pace. He has been scored on 26 times in 17 games for an average of 1.53. His average a week ago was 1.78.

Jean Beliveau of Montreal continues to show the way among the point-scorers with 22 points. The big centre scored two goals and one assist last week. Bert Olmstead, his teammate, got a goal and an assist and remains runner-up, with 20 points. Olmstead is tops in assists, with 15.

Record of goalkeepers: G. O. A. P. M. Plante, Montreal, 10, 26, 1.53. Sawchuk, Boston, 15, 27, 1.80. Mull, Pittsburgh, 17, 26, 1.53. Worsley, New York, 15, 26, 1.73. Lalim, Chicago, 17, 26, 1.53. Lumley, Toronto, 17, 26, 1.53.

Penalties in minutes by club: Montreal 139, New York 209, Boston 247, Montreal 248, Toronto 251, Detroit 253.

ROBINSON TO SHOOT FOR KNOCKOUT TRIUMPH

Sugar Ray Figures 'I'm Ready'

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y. (UP)—There is a saying in the fight world that "they never come back" but a trim, sleek Sugar Ray Robinson has promised to beat that adage with the old-time fury of his fists.

Once rated pound for pound as one of the greatest fighters in ring history, Robinson hung them up for two years. Now, with six tune-up bouts behind him, he'll attempt to win back the middleweight crown from Bobo Olson at Chicago next month.

Apparently as fit as ever, the dancing dynamite ignores the probable 3 to 1 odds against him by hinting broadly that he'll smash Olson into oblivion.

"I can't promise I'll knock him out but I'll be trying,"

Robinson says with obvious determination. "But now I know I can go the distance, so I'm confident of victory either way."

That, he'll tell you, is why five of his tune-up bouts went all the way to his decision.

"I had to see if I could go 10 rounds," he explains. "I know I can, and even go 15, and my reflexes and my punch are as good as ever."

There were those who told Robinson to hang them up when, after winning from Joe Rindone in January, he lost his second bout to Tiger Jones.

"It was a mistake fighting Jones that early," Robinson concedes. "He is a busy club fighter and a hard man for anybody at any time. I was rusty then."

After that, though, Robin-

Footgear Worries Bombers

EDMONTON (CP)—Coach Al Sherman of Winnipeg Blue Bombers is undecided what his players will wear on their feet in the second game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union playoff finals at Clarke Stadium here Wednesday night.

But he is sure of one thing: "If we don't win Wednesday, it will be slippers by the fireside for the winter."

Sherman's Bombers must win to deadlock the two-of-three conference finals and force a third game in Edmonton Saturday night.

In the first game in Winnipeg Friday Edmonton Eskimos walloped the Bombers 29-6.

SNEAKERS FOR ESKS

Coach Frank (Pop) Ivy of the Eskis says it "looks like it will be running shoes."

The field is clear of ice but the dirt is frozen solid and the weatherman gives no hope for a change. His prediction for the game, which starts at 8:30 p.m., is a temperature of zero or below but no "great amount" of wind or snow.

Ivy says guard Jim Quondamatteo is a doubtful starter because of a recurrence of an old back injury.

Otherwise Eskis are in good shape for the game, which if they win will give them the right to defend the Grey Cup.

Edmonton is attempting to protect players from the cold Wednesday night.

WILL USE HEATERS

Roofs are being built over both player dugouts and heaters will push warm air through vents to help keep the players warm.

The Bombers were scheduled to leave by air today for Edmonton. Winnipeg worked out for about 40 minutes Monday and then attended a luncheon of the Winnipeg Sales and Ad Club.

"We're trying out all kinds of footgear these days," said Sherman. "We've had lots of folks phone up with helpful suggestions. But shoes or no shoes, I think it's the legs which support the feet which go into those shoes that will make all the difference in Wednesday's game."

"Right now there is no other game. If we don't win Wednesday, it will be slippers by the fireside for the winter."

Ivy says the cold weather is a "great equalizer and he refused to make any prediction on the outcome of the game."

"It's all a matter of how the breaks go," he said.

Richmond Ball Club Goes for $20,000

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The Richmond Virginians baseball club, its franchise in the International League, and all its assets were sold Monday by the federal tax collector to a syndicate of six Richmond businessmen for $20,000.

Only one bid was offered. It was by David Satterfield III and David Einstein, lawyers who were agents for the syndicate.

In addition to the money to be paid for the ball club, the syndicate will assume other debts of the team in excess of $30,000.

The sale was held at the Virginians' home park, Parker Field. The syndicate which bought the team has promised to keep the club in Richmond.

The federal tax collector sold the club to satisfy a $79,218.68 tax lien and Richmond owner Harry Seibold could have held his team if he had paid the money before 2 p.m., but he didn't.

The remainder of the team, with individual placing in brackets, follows: Vancouver Y.M.C.A. won the meet, while Washington Athletic Club edged out Victoria for second place.

Bob Wheaton led the boys with a first and a third in the breaststroke events, while the two boys' relay teams placed second.

The big, soft-spoken Texan nosed out New York Yankees' pennant-winning manager by four votes. Of the 99 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America who participated in the Associated Press poll, 39 voted for Higgins and 35 for Stengel. Walter Alston, only Brooklyn manager to win a world championship, won the National League award.

NEW YORK (UP)—Oklahoma's Orange Bowl-bound powerhouse led the United Press college football ratings today for the second week in a row, but Michigan State replaced Maryland in second place as its chief competition for national honors.

Michigan State, which has been smashing all its opposition since its lone defeat of the season against Michigan, Oct. 1, moved up to within 15 points of the top-ranked Sooners in this week's ratings of the 35 top coaches who comprise the United Press board.

GREY EXPRESS DESTROYED

Quality Quest Runs Last Race

Quality Quest, the B.C.-bred Grey Express, was put to death Saturday at Tanforan race track in San Francisco after breaking down while leading his field in the $10,000 Peninsula Handicap.

The four-year-old grey gelding suffered a triple fracture in the right foreleg, and was immediately destroyed.

The tragic incident wrote finis to the storied career of the handsome colt, called the "best ever" B.C. bred, and perhaps one of the outstanding horses in North America. He was trained by Jack Russell of Lulu Island.

In three years of racing, Quality Quest won over $40,000, with his greatest race being a sensational victory in the $20,000 added Longacres Mile in Seattle last summer.

Covering the distance in a record-shattering 1:34.2, Quality Quest received the praise of jockey Willie Hartack, who called him "as good as any I've ridden."

The Grey Express was born because of sentiment. Owner Bill Wellburn of Ladner bought Quality Quest's mother, Yomis, for $110 to save her from the fox farm and bred her to Over Drive, son of Silver Chord, sire of Swaps.

The offspring was Quality Quest.

Canucks Take WHL Lead; Cougars Lose Third in Row

Vancouver 5, Victoria 2

By BILL WALKER

Coach Eddie Olson of Victoria Cougars has been proved so wrong. And admit the fact, he did.

Friday night at Memorial Arena (not last night, mind) Olson said of the 7-1 defeat by Calgary Stampeders "that was a bad one—the worst."

Last night the Cougars lost to Vancouver Canucks 5-2.

Last night the Cougars lost their third game in four nights (the other was a 4-2 defeat in Westminster Saturday).

Last night the Cougars lost first place for the first time this season.

Last night — Olson sadly shook his head. He shook his head as he looked upon the scene of deathly quiet that was the Cougar dressing room, a place almost as still as the setting earlier in the arena proper.

There, 2,140 fans, the smallest WHL crowd since the 1949-50 season, shivered through the coolness of the game and the night.

The most grateful part was that the game was over early, the night continuing cold.

"How can," said Olson, "we look so" . . . and then he shook his head again.

Speaking of Fundamentals . . . Assistant general manager Art Chapman of the Canucks, more impressive although far more spirited.

Tney played their positions well, the fundamental difference between the two clubs.

"We'll take it," he said of the triumph, first for the Canucks over the Cougars this year, but one worth sole occupancy of first place.

He smirked when someone jokingly remarked "You were flying."

"I didn't notice," he said. For the Canucks were no earlier in the middle frame Bob Kabe had put the Canucks ahead 2-1 on a break through with Wylie.

Later, less than a minute and a half after Hillman's goal, Les Lilley was to get credit for doing the same thing again, for the Canucks to bring the score to 3-2. Hillman's star dimmed as he lost the puck and Maloney and Lilley bore in on Pelletier.

But he, and the Canucks, were the only ones.

DOROHY, LYNN FINED FOR ABUSIVE LANGUAGE

Conduct of Eddie Dorohoy of Seattle and Vic Lynn of Saskatoon at Memorial Arena in games against Victoria Cougars has led to $100 fines to both players by WHL president Al Leader.

Fined for "unsportsmanlike conduct during a hockey game," Dorohoy received two misconduct penalties for abusive language during Seattle's last visit here, while Lynn received two misconducts for the same offence.

Another player, Gordon Hudson of Vancouver, received an automatic $50 fine for a match penalty in Vancouver Friday night.

Higgins, Alston Named Baseball's Best Bosses

NEW YORK (AP)—Mike Pinky Higgins, freshman manager of the fourth-place Boston Red Sox, today was voted American League "manager-of-the-year" in a close race with Casey Stengel.

The big, soft-spoken Texan nosed out New York Yankees' pennant-winning manager by four votes. Of the 99 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America who participated in the Associated Press poll, 39 voted for Higgins and 35 for Stengel. Integrity Of Golf At Stake

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States Golf Association, alarmed over the revelation that a "ringer" had played in an invitation tournament on which a big betting pool depended, Monday called on all its member clubs to discourage organized gambling on golf and to tighten up enforcement of the rules.

In a strongly worded statement headed "The Integrity of Golf Is at Stake," USGA president Isaac B. Grainger said the incident at the Deepdale Club's invitation fourball tournament in September had "disgraced the good name of golf" and emphasized the dangers inherent in organized gambling.

Early this month, Charles Bud Helmar of West Springfield, Mass., admitted he had played in the Deepdale tournament under an assumed name and that he and his partner had won it with the aid of falsified handicaps. The USGA is investigating the amateur status of the players involved.

Former coach of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, George Trifton has applied for the B.C. Lions' head coaching position. Trifton is also a former assistant coach with Los Angeles Rams. It is rumored also that seven members of the UCLA football team are headed for the Lions next year.

Charles Defeated

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Toxie Hall of Chicago won a hairline split decision over former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles Monday night in a savage punching duel.

Hall weighed 194½, Charles 197. Hall staggered Charles with a terrific right to the chin in the first round, had him hanging on in the eighth with a left hook to the chin and stung the Cincinnati slugger with a left hook to the body in the ninth.

Senators Tip Hand, Eye Nelson in Draft

NEW YORK (UP)—The Washington Senators gave up their best player when they included Mickey Vernon in the recent nine-player deal with the Boston Red Sox, but can replace him for a mere $10,000 on Nov. 28 when they make first pick in the annual baseball draft.

Manager Charley Dressen warned not to forget "we have first pick in the draft" when the deal was announced and it's dollars to doughnuts he meant the Senators will attempt to make up for the loss of Vernon by drafting Glenn (Rocky) Nelson from the Montreal Royals.

Nelson, who failed in previous trials with the St. Louis Cardinals, Brooklyn Dodgers and Cleveland Indians, had a spectacular season in the International League this year. He topped the circuit with a .364 average, hit 37 homers and knocked in 129 runs in 153 games, and was voted the league's "most valuable player."

In any event, such intriguing possibilities will make Columbus, Ohio, the centre of the baseball world's attention when all 16 major league clubs "go bargain hunting" in two weeks.

Straths Lose--To Weather; Firemen Due Here Saturday

Victoria Strathconsas, still struggling to make an impression in their freshman season in the Coast Soccer League, have come up against a new foe, the weather.

"Scheduling" and lineup shortcomings have helped the new city entry in the league to get off to an inauspicious start, a 4-2 loss to North Shore United in its only game to date, and now Victoria's "unseasonable" cold snap.

Manager Charlie Lewis has called off tonight's practice session at Athletic Park because of the condition of the ground and the temperature. Another workout has been scheduled for Thursday night at the park at 7.30, but unless the weatherman turns a benevolent eye on Victoria that also may be canceled.

Weather conditions may also affect the Coast League game between Strathconsas and Vancouver Firefighters, slated for Athletic Park Saturday at 2, but the city eleven will be ready just in case.

Strathconsas, fired up for last Friday's game with New Westminster Royals on the mainland, which was eventually cancelled, will attempt to maintain their enthusiasm through the week.

Manager Lewis reports that team spirit is high and that weather.

Dynamos Score Narrow Win

SUNDERLAND, England (AP)—Inside left Vladimir Ilyin scored for Moscow Dynamo four minutes from the end and gave the Russians a 1-0 victory over Sunderland, English League leaders, in a floodlit soccer match before a sellout crowd of 55,000 Monday night.

It was the second game of Dynamo's visit. They lost, 2-1, to Wolverhampton Wanderers last Wednesday.

The Russians were down the British side shortly before half time and then piled on the pressure in the second half. Ilyin's goal came after the Sunderland defence had conceded several corners in desperate bids to keep the Russians out.

club president Jim Lackie, in keeping with the Christmas-like weather, has promised a turkey to any player scoring two goals Saturday. The nimble trio of Joe Robbins, Willie Hamilton and Tommy Druce is expected to bolster the team's chances on Saturday, along with the possible addition of a new inside left.

But it all depends on the weather.

cold weather can make your car stall

Remember when your car stalls in traffic it may be the gasoline!

ESSO EXTRA GASOLINE STOPS COLD WEATHER STALLING

Ice in the carburetor is a major reason why cars stall. Is your car stalling these days? Before you blame it on a cold engine or badly adjusted carburetor, try Esso Extra—improved to give you even greater protection against cold weather stalling. It combats the formation of ice anywhere in your car's fuel system.

As gasoline vaporizes in the carburetor it has a refrigerating effect. Condensation from the intake air freezes. Ice crystals stop the fuel supply—and your car stalls! Avoid this with Esso Extra Gasoline.

SERIES BY HIS VALET

Hitler's Private Life

Franco's refusal to invade Gibraltar; Mussolini's ill-timed attack on Greece gave Hitler bad 24 hours.

By HEINZ LINGE, Hitler's Personal Valet

(World Copyright, 1955)

BERLIN—Adolf Hitler wanted to feel secure on all sides before committing vast forces in an invasion of England.

It was with this thought in mind that Hitler arranged to meet General Franco of Spain at Hendaye, on the Franco-Spanish border, on Oct. 23, 1940.

Franco's train was already on the siding when Hitler's special train with its map room, telephone room, bedrooms, dining room and two carriages equipped with anti-aircraft batteries, steamed slowly into the station.

I knew that the purpose of Hitler's visit was to persuade Franco to attack and capture Gibraltar, thus closing Britain's western guard over the Mediterranean.

MISPLACED TRUST

Hitler went to Hendaye confident that if he promised guns, planes and munitions to Franco, he would have a ready and willing ally. He was not prepared for the stormy meeting which followed.

Franco was accompanied to the meeting in Hitler's conference room on the train by the Spanish ambassador to Berlin, General Espinosa de los Monteros. With Hitler were Kettel, Jodl, Hess, Ribbentrop and other members of his staff.

Later Hitler said, "If the ambassador had not been there, I think Franco would have agreed to march against Gibraltar. But he prompted Franco to say that Germany was unable to provide Spain with the food and raw materials she needed, and as Spain was very largely dependent upon the Americans for her supplies, she would have to remain neutral."

TERRIFIC TEMPER

By the end of the day, Hitler was in a terrific temper. Back in the map room of the train, he voiced his views on the Spanish dictator.

"Franco is a very ungrateful friend and comrade," he started out. "I gave him all the help he needed in the civil war. Now I have offered him all the war material he would need to attack Gibraltar. I have promised to install in Gibraltar the biggest naval guns he could wish for, but he refuses."

Then, smashing his fists on the map room table, he shouted: "In Germany, that man would never rise to a higher rank than staff sergeant (Feldwebel)."

A bit later, when he still was very angry, he said:

"Perhaps I will have to invade Spain in order to secure the Atlantic seaboard."

I think it was the Fuehrer's worst 24 hours in those early days of the war, because within a few hours he was to become even angrier with his only ally, Mussolini.

From Hendaye, the train went to Montoire, where Hitler had arranged to meet Petain and Laval on Oct. 24. Hitler had hoped, I am sure, to be able to tell the two leaders of defeated France that Franco was about to attack Gibraltar, and it would be in the greatest interest of France to join in Germany's declaration of war on Britain.

Hitler said later that "I praised Petain. He was a great man from the first war. I told him it was in the French interest that she throw in her lot against England, because somebody would have to pay for the war and it would be better that it should be England rather than France."

I don't know the exact outcome of this conference, but I did feel that his failure to get Franco's agreement to attack Gibraltar deprived the Fuehrer of much of his force. Within an hour or two, however, worse was to follow.

It was either over the train telephone system or at some wayside station that a message was passed to Hitler to say that Italy had declared war against Greece and that Italian troops were landing in Albania.

HAMMERED DESK

Hitler was even more angry than he had been after his meetings with Franco. He smashed his fists on his desk repeatedly and ejaculated:

"Linge, they are messing me up. They are destroying all my plans. Clarno is to blame for this. Well, I will give him something to remember."

Ribbentrop had left the train at Montoire, but within seconds a message was flashed to him to arrange an immediate meeting with Mussolini. Ribbentrop was to be there; he was always called into conference when Mussolini was being seen. Train officials went forward to tell the driver the train was being diverted to Munich en route to Italy.

At Munich, Ribbentrop was waiting at the station and as soon as the train got in he boarded and began his talks with the Fuehrer. I don't know what happened in these talks, but Hitler remained in a difficult mood as the train sped south to Florence, where Mussolini was to meet him.

I watched the meeting on the station platform. Mussolini obviously knew that Hitler was angry, and he appeared nervous. Hitler was stern, cold and aloof. Instead of the usual demonstration of comradeship, it was obvious something was amiss.

GREAT FUSS MADE

Mussolini probably had been warned in advance by Ribbentrop, and he had gone out of his way to play on the Fuehrer's vanity. There was a larger guard of honor than usual, and a bigger band to play Duetschland Uber Alles. There was more heel clicking and saluting than usual. But throughout it all, Hitler remained grim-faced and Mussolini ill at ease.

They drove together through crowded streets to one of the most beautiful palaces we had ever seen. Hitler's quarters were luxurious. Mussolini immediately drew Hitler's attention to a magnificent picture gallery, obviously played on his known liking of good paintings. Outside the palace, thousands were shouting:

"Fuehrer, Heil Fuehrer! Duce, Duce!"

Several times both Mussolini and Hitler made appearances on the balcony of the palace and the crowd shouted louder. Hitler's vanity was being breached.

"It was a greeting such as the Romans gave their Caesars," Hitler remarked to me later. "But they did not deceive me. They are trying to soften me now because of the way they have messed up my plans."

But I could see that Hitler was coming around to the opinion that what had been started by Italy must be allowed to continue.

Later he said: "I hope Italy can stand on her own feet, but if not, I will have to give her help. It may mean we will have to postpone the drive against Russia for a few months."

Much later, when the German army was stalled in the snows of Russia, Hitler recalled this meeting with Mussolini and said:

"Had I been able to attack in April as I had planned, I would have overrun Moscow and Leningrad before winter arrived. But because of the help I had to give Italy in Greece, I couldn't do it."

Teacher-Parent Talks Arranged At City Schools

Thousands of district parents will have opportunity in the next two weeks to visit local schools and discuss the scholastic progress of their children.

Parents will be permitted private discussions with the teachers of about 15 minutes each. Day to day work and report cards will be explained by the teacher.

Meantime classroom work will continue as usual with Normal school students in charge. The visits are by appointment arranged through the pupils.

School officials say the teacher-parent meetings have proved so successful in Victoria that the Department of Education is now recommending them for the province generally.

Revamping Suggested For Saanich Staff

A motion calling for re-organization of the administrative system of Saanich, will be considered by Saanich Council after the December elections.

The motion, proposed by C. George Austin requested these changes:

1. Appointment of John Tribe, municipal clerk, as comptroller-treasurer. This would mean creation of a new office.

2. Gordon Hayward, assistant municipal clerk, to be appointed municipal clerk.

3. Hiring of a trained man to act as assistant-municipal clerk at a salary of $300 a year.

Mr. Austin said he had several other recommendations to make with regard to the public works department.

Reeve Joseph Casey urged council to refer the motion to the incoming council.

Mr. Austin said there is a "great need" for certain changes in the administration system of Saanich.

Jumping Champ

TORONTO (CP)—Brig. Gen. Humberto Mariles Monday night captured permanent possession of the trophy emblematic of the international individual jumping championship at the horse show of the Royal winter fair.

"We are growing," he said. "We are a big business now and it does seem that our administration system needs some overhauling."

The group voted $50 for a project yet to be decided. Suggestions included additions to the library, phonograph records for the school, or a bus trip to places of interest.

Committee reports were made by O. Gust, Mrs. K. Gilson, Mrs. R. Shelton, and Mrs. V. Shelton.

Mr. S. W. Brock urged that all subdivision plans be approved by the Regional Town Planning Board instead of by the municipal engineer.

"I've looked into the administration system of Saanich," he said, "and I can't say I approve of what I see."

CANDIDATE SCORNFUL

No Remembrance Day Service by Saanich

Reeveship candidate George Clayton today strongly criticized Saanich council for not holding a "memorial service" and omitting to have a representative at the Armistice Day cenotaph ceremony in Victoria.

Mr. Clayton, a retired manufacturer and veteran of the First World War, will be contesting the reeveship in the December elections against Reeve Joseph Casey who is seeking re-election, and Arthur Ash, former MLA for Saanich.

"Many people of Saanich were surprised not to see Reeve Casey or a member of his council officially representing Saanich at the memorial service," said Mr. Clayton. "A representative should have been there or a memorial service should have been held in Saanich."

"The office of reeveship carries with it certain responsibilities and duties," he said. "These seemed to have been forgotten."

Mr. Clayton said it seemed to him that Reeve Casey was thinking more of a plan to build a "memorial to himself" (a new municipal hall) than attending a memorial service for men who died in two world wars to save their country.

Mr. Clayton said he noticed that Reeve Casey has dropped his plan to hold a referendum for a $500,000 new municipal FORT WILLIAM, Ont. (CP)—Two hundred black spruce seedlings from the district tree nursery here were on their way to British Columbia Monday with the Victoria Drakes intermediate football team.

Quick Freeze Failed to Faze Army Units

B.C.'s deep-freeze caught many people short, but plunging temperatures have meant little to Greater Victoria army units, which had taken precautions against winter.

Lieut. Col. J. C. Cave, commander of Esquimalt garrison, said the sudden freeze-up caused little difficulty apart from a few frozen pipes, drains and streets.

Engineers got busy and thawed pipes and sanded slippery spots on garrison roads.

Camp Gordon Head, home of Second Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, and part of Esquimalt garrison although several miles farther north and more exposed to weather, also met the onslaught without incident.

All vehicles were winterized in September and heavy clothing issued to all personnel several weeks ago.

Several outside pipes froze at Camp Gordon Head.

Casey Wants Saanich to Drop Proposed Library Referendum

Saanich Reeve Joseph Casey urged council Monday to drop a proposed December referendum, asking ratepayers if they favor Saanich signing a new library agreement with the city.

The reeve also recommended that Saanich terminate its present library agreement with the city this year. He asked that the required one-year notice be given so that next year a change in the contract could be negotiated.

But councillors decided to defer their decisions until the next meeting after the reeve's suggestion received a flat "no" from Councilor Leslie Passmore, who feared Saanich would be placed in the position of being cut off without any library service.

The new agreement would give Saanich voting powers on the library board. This has been a bone of contention in the past between the council and the city. It would also give the municipality an equity on the building.

NEW FINANCING

The library services would also be financed under a different scheme.

The reeve said the referendum should be dropped this year because there is nothing "concrete" about the new contract as yet.

It was also his view that Saanich should serve notice on the city that it was suspending its present library agreement.

"We have to suspend our present contract before signing a new agreement," stated the reeve. "It is just good business."

Mr. Passmore challenged the reeve's views.

"I'm certainly against suspending the present contract," he said.

He warned that once the present library contract was terminated the city could refuse the library services to Saanich.

"Suppose the city decides it is tired of this council fooling around with the library issue and cuts us out completely at the end of next year," he said. "The city would be quite within its right to do this."

Reeve Casey said it was "improbable."

POSSIBLE

"But it is possible," replied Mr. Passmore.

The councillor said he did not agree that the municipality has to suspend its present agreement in order to sign a new contract.

He saw no reason, he added, why the referendum could not be submitted in December asking ratepayers if they are in favor of the new agreement.

"Council could recommend to the ratepayers to approve the agreement," he said.

The reeve said the agreement to be effective also needed the approval of Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Central Saanich. It was no use signing the agreement until the other municipalities approved of the new scheme, he said.

Mr. Passmore said this was no reason for delaying the referendum because the contract would not be binding if the other municipalities were not in favor of the agreement.

Put an end to start-and-stall driving!

TCP, and a new de-icer work together to end the worst of your winter driving problems.

TCP overcomes power-wasting engine deposits—gives full winter power when you need it. And a special de-icer never before in Shell gasolines gives you freedom from winter stalling.

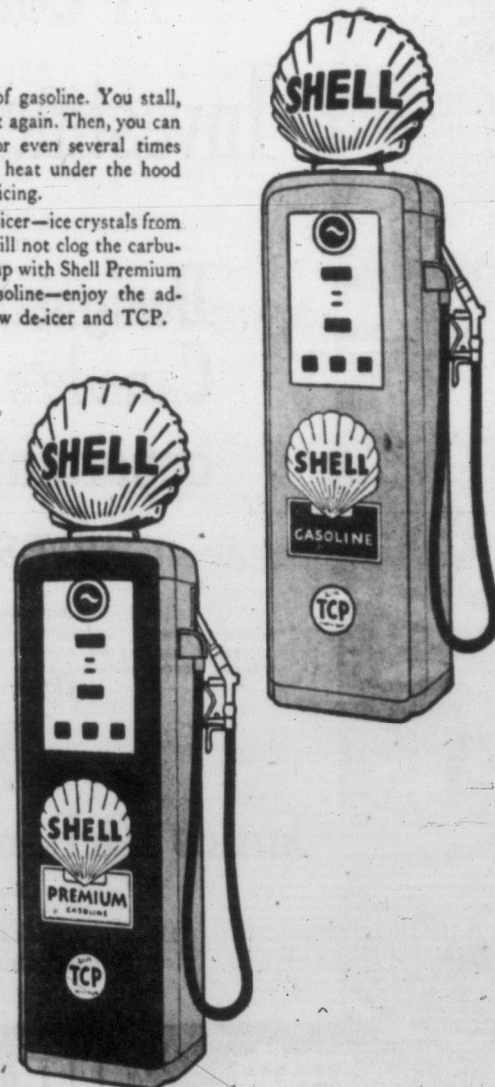

As you start up on damp days, when the temperature may be between 30° and 50°F—moisture from the air condenses in the carburetor where it's chilled by evaporating gasoline and freezes inside the carburetor.

This blocks the flow of gasoline. You stall, then you have to start again. Then, you can stall a second time or even several times before there's enough heat under the hood to prevent carburetor icing.

With Shell's new de-icer—ice crystals from the air/fuel mixture will not clog the carburetor in your car. Fill up with Shell Premium Gasoline or Shell Gasoline—enjoy the advantages of Shell's new de-icer and TCP.

Christmas Seals Out To Fight Against TB

The director of the Vancouver Island chest unit, said here today that it costs an estimated $5,000 at least to treat and rehabilitate an average tuberculosis patient in B.C.

Dr. R. M. Lane was speaking in support of the B.C. Tuberculosis Society's annual TB Christmas seal sale which started here at the weekend under sponsorship of the Soroptimist Club.

LOTS OF SEALS

The Soroptimists' seal sale group, headed by Mrs. M. A. Kimmitt, has mailed 21,000 letters, each containing 200 TB seals to Victoria householders.

Proceeds will help finance the society's anti-TB program in B.C.

Dr. Lane said that tuberculosis—a contagious disease—continues to be a major public health problem in B.C. despite the fact the death rate from the disease is down sharply.

He said it was 200 per 100,000 of population in B.C. 50 years ago when the first sanatorium was opened in tents on the lawn behind the Legislative Buildings here. This year the B.C. death rate from TB is down to 10 per 100,000 of the population.

Dr. Lane said preventing death is no longer the major problem in TB. Modern surgery and medicine can assure a cure if the disease is found in the early stage.

The big problem now, he said, is to find new cases and bring them under treatment before they can infect others.

There were 1,425 new cases of TB found in B.C. last year and more than half were active cases which were potential sources of infection to other citizens, the doctor said.

19 CASES IN CITY

There were 19 cases of TB found in Victoria during a chest X-ray survey last spring.

Dr. Lane said the average length of treatment in B.C. now is from four months to a year and it costs B.C. an estimated $5,000 "at least" to treat and rehabilitate each case.

The figure includes hospital, medical and social welfare costs, plus lost wages and production.

He urged citizens to have regular chest X-rays as a safeguard against the disease. They are provided free in B.C. through government health grants and TB Christmas seal funds.

The doctor stressed that TB is most easily cured when it is found and treated in the early stage. This also minimizes the danger of infecting others, he said.

Books for Children on Display

One of the largest and finest collections of children's books went on display at the Victoria Public Library today.

The display is being held in conjunction with Young Canada's Book Week which is being observed by public libraries and educationists throughout Canada.

The object of the week's program is to stimulate interest in good books for children and to acquaint adults with new children's books.

The display is open to the public from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. through to next Monday.

Tonight a special reception is being held in the music room of the library to mark the opening of the national event. Representatives of various educational, social and service organizations have been invited to attend.

Apart from the book display, the library has arranged a special program for entertaining children and adults during the week. This includes the showing of films and slides on Wednesday at 8 p.m. and a concert of special recorded music at 7.30 p.m. Thursday.

On Friday, Mrs. Catherine Anthony Clark, author of several children's books, will hold a special story hour for children between 3.30 to 4 p.m. In the evening, between 6 and 9 p.m., parents are especially invited to attend a "family of films on Monday at 8 p.m."

MLA Raps Inaction On Kitimat Housing

CCF MLA Frank Howard of zens of Kitimat? Skeena today blasted Premier Bennett for his refusal to order a Royal Commission into the housing situation at Kitimat. "Is it possible," asked Howard, "that the Aluminum Company has contributed to the campaign by funds of the Social Credit party, building contractors who cut corners that the premier would not pay too much attention to anything that is perpetrated upon the city-demanding a Royal Commission inquiry at Kitimat. The premier said he "does not pay much attention" to letters sent first to the press, and then to the premier. Howard said today Premier Bennett had "insulted the constituents of Kitimat by stating that politics had been played in the request for a Royal Commission."

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

A trend of some sort seems to be developing in the news-business, and I have had a difficult time deciding whether to (a) view it with alarm or (b) go along with it. The trend to which I refer has been underlined by the action of two Vancouver newspapers. A few days ago, one newspaper hired an unemployed football coach and former famous athlete as its football editor.

Not to be outdone, the other paper rushed out and hired an unemployed football player and currently famous athlete as its football editor.

The reason I was first inclined to view this trend with alarm was its possible effect on managing editors.

If managing editors go around hiring athletes, either formerly or currently famous, managing editors will have to revise their approach to the newspaper business.

When ordering former or current athletes out on a job, managing editors will have to stop saying: "Get the blazes out there and get me the blasted news," and instead will have to say "please get the blazes out there and get me the blasted news, if you don't mind."

I would hate to see a managing editor saying "please," and "if you don't mind."

But I should hate even more to stand in the way of progress. I am all too inclined to view with alarm, so in this case I'll just go along with the trend.

Although there are still some vacancies, I am pleased to announce our Very Own line-up of Athletic-type editors is nearly complete.

For our Very Own tidily-wink editor, we have lined up the renowned Atherton Flipp-Winkleigh, descendant of the Flipp-Winkleighs (pronounced Flee) whose family team won the Ducks (not to be confused with the Ashes) in the all-Empire tournament of 1906. After a distinguished athletic career playing left tidily for the Hanteringham (pronounced Hm) Wanderers (pronounced Wanderers), he became head coach of the Fmm (pronounced Fotheringham) tidily-wink team, but recently disengaged himself from his position with the full co-operation of his employers.

Our Very Own hop-scootch editor is unique in his field. He is Old Vic's Uncle Zeke's cousin Jake, who insists on calling the game "skip-scootch." This is because he prefers rye, but otherwise he is perfectly normal in every way.

We had many candidates for our Very Own distance swimming editor, but finally settled on Leander Q. Hellespont, a long-time resident of this area. Mr. Hellespont is the only man (or woman) to have swum across the duck pond at Beacon Hill Park without being arrested. Of course, he can't write or type, but one can't have everything.

Our Very Own staff of Athletic editors is building up nicely. But we are still looking for a toy boat sailing editor. What we need is a man who has successfully, and single-handedly, sailed a model boat ALL THE WAY AROUND the bathtub without a single soul being lost.

Any candidates in mind?

"SMART ALEC" Premier Bennett is just giving another one of his "smart Alec" answers, and talking through his hat when he says that my letter was given to the press before it was sent to him," Howard said.

"The press was notified, yes, for the housing problems in Kitimat are such that they should receive the widest possible publicity. But the press received a copy of the letter only after it had been mailed to the premier and sufficient time allowed for him to receive it."

The CCF member said he had written several letters to the premier on other issues, and that the premier "didn't pay too much attention to any of them."

"It looks," he said, "as if the people of Skeena are being punished for having the temerity to elect a CCF member at the last provincial election. For instance, I have written two letters to the premier during the last year concerning farm land in Terrace that is being washed away by the Skeena River."

"These letters were not shown to the press or to anyone else, yet I wasn't even afforded the courtesy of an acknowledgment, let alone a sensible reply."

Mr. Howard said that not one of 256 houses pre-fabricated in North Vancouver this summer, and shipped by barge to Kitimat, have received the approval of Central Mortgage and Housing, "simply because they do not meet the standards set by CMHC."

The girl was charged Monday with breaking and entering with intent to commit theft Saturday night at the home of D. J. Massie, 23 Sooke Road.

RCMP found a pair of loafer-type shoes at the house and tracks of bare feet leading away.

She was arrested Sunday after Colwood RCMP followed the tracks to a cabin.

The girl was also charged, with a 17-year-old girl, also from Vancouver, with committing a delinquency.

Both were remanded in custody to Monday for sentence.

MEM CHARGED In RCMP court, Barrie W. Simpson, 19, Vancouver, and James D. Morgan, 444 Constance, pleaded guilty to charges of contributing to the delinquency of two juveniles.

Simpson also pleaded guilty to a second charge, that of possession of stolen property, a toaster and electric kettle stolen from Wedgewood Auto Court on Friday.

Both were remanded in custody to Monday for sentence before Magistrate A. I. Thomas.

The former BBC industrial and labor correspondent, railwayman, journalist and author said the biggest problem faced by the United Kingdom industrially is how to get cheap power.

In this respect and others designed to improve the nation's economic position and make possible real and continuing prosperity, Britain's Labor Congress has offered to co-operate with the government, even though it campaigned against Prime Minister Eden in the last election.

GOES FAR At a recent congress meeting of certain decisions were made which have been responded to by the British Employers' Federation with a statement of industrial policy which goes far to meet the union cause, Mr. Darling said.

Some of the problems to be faced on a united front will be how to keep stock dividends, prices and wages steady in return for agreement on measures to expand production and trade and reduce production costs.

"It is a sign of high prestige of the unions and a tribute to their strength and sense of responsibility," the member said.

He mentioned that communist influence is strong in a few key unions, notably electrical trades and some mine workers' locals, but few unions have by-laws prohibiting communists from holding office in a union.

Britain's largest union, Transport and General Workers, has some internal legislation, however, controlling power over its 1,250,000 members.

POWER TO ACT This year for the first time, Mr. Darling said, labor congress leaders have been given power to act to prevent disputes rather than merely being called in to help settle them.

He said changes are needed in the elaborate system of bargaining and arbitration, methods dealing with wage claims and other disputes, which are now too slow and complex to be really effective.

There is little official union opposition to new industrial methods, including automation, but agreement at plant level is often impossible due to failure to set up good labor-management relations, he said.

Mr. Darling returns to the mainland today and speaks Wednesday in Calgary. His tour is sponsored by the United Kingdom Information Office.

CRUMBS FOR BEACON HILL QUACKERS

ducks have trouble finding food; they gobbled crumbs with alacrity. Performance will be repeated daily for ducks until cold ends. Bakery employees Don Stewart, left, and Gordon Harris did catering honors. (Times Photo.)

Four Arrested As Footprints Traced in Snow

1897 Paper Behind Mirror Reveals Buyers' Paradise

Mirror mirror on the wall, who is fairest of them all? This question was answered today by William Bell, 657 Duneduff, when he broke a wall mirror. Behind it found a December 5, 1897 copy of the Courier-Journal of Louisville, Kentucky.

Pre-Christmas prices listed were fair indeed, judged by today's standards.

Store ads listed hassocks for 25 cents. Smyrna rugs for $2.50, cocoa door mats at 60 cents, button hooks at 25 cents—now slightly out of fashion—and lamps for 25 cents guaranteed "no smoke nor odor."

One Ab Bearcovitch was fined $5 in city court for fast driving. His plea was a spirited horse, but he had to pay, regardless.

An interesting sidelight was cast on the famed and wealthy Mr. Vanderbilt by one New York correspondent. Wrote he:

"Those Vanderbilts don't seem to put on as much style as we expected. The other day Mr. Vanderbilt wasn't a bit better dressed or half as stylish as Mr. Slocum of our town, who runs the Square Deal Collar and Cuff Palace on Main Street, and is a great society man."

Co-Operative Theme In UK Lauded by MP

A bright new note of co-operation between the labor movement, industry and government is evident in Great Britain, British labor MP for Hillborough George Darling, said in an interview in Victoria today.

Patronage Charge Answered

Premier Denies Favors To Old Tory Friends

Premier W. A. C. Bennett today denied charges that government appointments are being made on a political, partisan basis.

The premier was answering a charge that he and Attorney-General Robert Bonner, both former Conservatives, were giving jobs to old friends in the Conservative Party.

Accusations were laid by Ernie F. Allistone, who has resigned as president of Shaughnessy South group of the Point Grey Social Credit Association.

Mr. Allistone said Social Credit "grass roots philosophy is dead," and that party leaders in B.C. are "filled with hypocrisy," and a "holier-than-thou attitude."

Mr. Allistone gave as an example of political appointments that of Miss Lorraine Johnston to the Vancouver juvenile court bench. She was a Progressive Conservative candidate in the 1953 federal election and has been prominent in the Tory organization in B.C.

ON MERIT Premier Bennett said all government appointments are made on merit, and that "this is a policy that will be carried out as long as I am premier."

He mentioned a number of appointments, including those of Dean Henry F. Angus to the B.C. Public Utilities Commission, the members of the B.C. Power Commission, and the latest, Brigadier W. Murphy, to the Vancouver Police Commission.

Brigadier Murphy is a partner in the law firm of which Liberal Defence Minister Ralph Campney is a member.

Two-year terms of Reeve A. C. Wurtele, Cirs. George Argyle and Walter Holder, and police commissioner Elvan Walters are up this year. Mr. Arthur Fields, who was elected in a by-election this year to fill the remaining portion of Mr. G. R. Guillemaud's term, also will stand again.

Mr. Guillemaud was forced to resign when he gave up his Esquimalt property.

Reeve Wurtele said today he hopes the municipality's annual public meeting will be held this year Dec. 7, the Wednesday before election day Dec. 10.

At this time the public will have the opportunity to meet all members of council and candidates for office, who will announce their platforms and answer questions.

Nomination day for candidates is Dec. 1.

Still with a year to serve as councillors are G. K. Sammon, James Bryant and J. E. Carey, and as police commissioner Frank Mitchell.

Small Logger Calls For Bigger FM Cut

Greater protection for small loggers working on forest management licences was urged today by James Gillespie, director of Gillespie and Delure Logging Co. Ltd., of Cowichan Lake.

Tiny Flowers Sprout Up In Glass Perfume Bottles

By PENNY SAVER

Strictly for milady who loves pretty things are the ultra-fashionable and feminine gift items I saw this morning while wandering my way round slippery streets. Perfume, always a flattering and welcome gift, is even more appealing and appreciated when it comes in a bottle that becomes a frivolous dressing table accessory. The choice of perfume I leave up to you, but the container . . . just read on. As dainty and delicate as glass can be are the hand-blown bottles made in Austria. They have round, squat bases, while the stopper is a hollow glass ball, thin as a bubble. Inside the bottle, seemingly growing from the bottom, is a flower. Each bottle is a little different. In one there's a daffodil, in another a blue bell, narcissus, lily of the valley, forget-me-not, or orchid.

When the bottles are filled with perfume, the flowers are slightly magnified. Each bottle stands about an inch and a half high. The cost? They're $1.50 each.

Belts to highlight an attractive outfit are yours for a very low price right now. For just $1 you can buy six belts . . . that's what I said. Six! How does it work? Actually, there are three plastic-finished belts, each with a different color on the reverse side. These three belts are attached to one buckle, and can be used interchangeably by merely unclipping one and attaching another. A full belt wardrobe of colors are offered. The combinations are red and black, brown and avocado, and cream and tan. In all sizes, they have a large, gold metal Puritan buckle.

A tie-rack may seem to be a rather trite and worn-out type of gift to give a man, but the newest ones in town are styled to please the recipient and are very useful. The one I have in mind is a double, rotating type that is attached to a plastic base. Centring the two racks is

Personality Patterns Are Not To Be Outgrown

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

People do not "outgrow" personality traits. Q.—I have been going steady with Joe for nearly a year. He is a fine young man, serious, dependable and devoted to me. He will certainly be a good provider, but there is one thing about him that disturbs me. He is always fussing about little things. He makes such an issue of them that he gets both of us upset. For example, if the curtains in the living room of my parents' home are not just so, he will work on them until they are to his liking, even if it makes us late for a movie. Or, if he thinks something costs too much he will insist upon going from one store to another, pricing the same articles to see if he can get a bargain.

I tell him little things like this are not worth all the time, effort and thought he puts into them. But he can't see it my way and the more I talk, the more set he is in this pettiness of his. Will he get over it, if I marry him, or will he get worse?"—M.L.T.

A.—The fact that Joe can't or won't see things your way now would certainly suggest he has no desire to try to overcome his pettiness, even when he knows it annoys and upsets you. That is part of his personality pattern and he certainly will not outgrow it even after marriage.

It is obvious you and Joe differ about what is important and worthwhile. This is just beginning to show now as your courtship progresses. You can be sure there would be more and more pettiness for you to cope with after marrying him.

No one is perfect. You must weigh the good against the bad and see which comes out on top. If you think you can overlook his faults then you could safely consider marrying him.

Fabulous Mink Furs Shown Here

Fur designers have kicked over the traditional traces and gone all out for the newest shapings, and colors as evidenced at the Hudson's Bay Company Fur Fashion Show held Monday afternoon in the Fur Salon, second floor.

Pride in the progress of the Canadian fur industry and the desire to show western women that Montreal designers are fully as competent as continental couturiers prompted the Canadian Mink Breeders' Association to send a quarter of a million dollars worth of fabulous mink on this three-week tour of western cities. Starting in Victoria, the show then proceeds to Vancouver, Edmonton and Calgary, finishing up in Winnipeg.

The show will be repeated at 2 p.m. Thursday and Saturday in the Fur Salon, second floor. Models for the showings are Doris Usher, Sheila Morgan and Mary Rawnsley.

Starring an outstanding collection of mink in stoles, cape stoles, jackets and full-length coats, emphasis in the fur show yesterday was placed on the Oriental silhouette in jackets, featuring a tapered back, slit sides and narrowed sleeves; and the Elizabethan look in a full-length coat called "Cavalier" . . . Styled with a deep fold-over collar of mink that takes its design from the Elizabethan ruff, the Cavalier even has border panels that call to mind the royal robe markings of that era.

Reminiscent of the roaring twenties was the "Vamp," a luxurious wrap coat in the new slim silhouette, that can be worn loosely or clutched close to give the dipped hemline so popular in the twenties. Finished with a wide shoulder framing "femme fatale" collar, its beauty lay not only in the luxurious styling, but in the rich color, Majestic Ranch mink.

For formal and semiformal occasions, the ever-popular stole was back in new magnificence. One that brought appreciative gasps from the audience was "Magique" in soft cocoa brown shade called "Autumn Haze" . . . According to the movement, and these same fasteners are the magic ingredients that transform the stole into six different styles.

Mrs. L. Pearce entertained at her home, 3114 Harriet Road, recently with a tea and linen shower by proxy for her godchild, Miss Gretta Anderson, whose marriage will take place Dec. 27 at Burns Lake. The St. Ann's Academy graduating class of '55 were among guests who gathered to wrap and send the many gifts to the bride-elect. A brass bowl of bronze chrysanthemums flanked by green candles in bronze holders centred the lace cloth covered refreshment table where Mrs. E. Duncan presided. North Vancouver Wedding Unites Dianne Scobie and Richard King

In the Church of St. John the Evangelist, North Vancouver, Stamper, the bridesmaid, was similarly gowned. A dainty flower girl, Darlene Pearson, wore turquoise nylon net, floor length and with matching jacket and flowers. Patrick Lewington was best man and the ushers, George Scobie and Robert Lang.

White chrysanthemums and lighted candles were at the altar and guest pews were marked with dainty white ribbon bows. As the bride walked to the altar for the double ring ceremony, the congregation sang a traditional hymn. She was given in marriage by her uncle, James Moody.

Delicate white lace was chosen by the bride for her wedding gown. It was styled in ballerina length with sleeveless bodice featuring a scoop neckline filled in with white tulle ruffles and a jacket with three-quarter-length sleeves. A tulle cap sparkling with iridescent sequins held her chapel veil. She wore an heirloom garnet pendant belonging to Mrs. Margaret Dewdney and carried red roses and gardenias in her bouquet.

As the bride left the vestry following signing of the register, she was presented with a horseshoe for luck by Master David Moody.

Mrs. P. Lewington was matron of honor in turquoise lace. She carried a tulle muff enhanced with golden carnations and roses and wore matching flowers in her hair. Miss Barbara Pearson, the maid of honor, wore a gold taffeta gown with white muff and pink car-

Autumn flowers decorated rooms at the home of the groom's parents, where a reception was held. A wedding cake, made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. J. Moody, was centred in pink tulle on the refreshment table and was flanked by pink candles in silver holders. James Moody proposed the toast to the happiness of his niece.

Mrs. Kim with winged bird: In the Republic of Korea, culture stays alive while a torn country rebuilds.

Koreans Eager to Study

NEW YORK—In the war-torn She is also the wife of Eun-Woo Kim, director of Education Department, Ewha Women's University, really been allowed to settle into peace are once again trying to live as if peace were theirs.

And what is the main spring, the drive, the goal, since the armistice? Reunification and reconstruction, of course. But study, too. Koreans are eager to learn.

To this end, they are coming to America to learn and to take their knowledge back to Korea with them and pass it on to others.

In an interview in New York, Mrs. Chong-Sook Kim, here to study sculpture, told how it is. "Koreans have one great ambition, to study. To study and then to teach. It's true of both men and women. And there are equal opportunities for both. We've never had to bind our feet or to bow before our husbands and sons, as in Japan. We have the right to vote, too. Every Korean over 21 has the right."

Slim, attractive and youthful-looking, Mrs. Kim is a professor of sculpture in the Fine Arts Department of Hong Ik University.

Local Council Discusses Economics

A subject usually considered to be in the realm of men only, and closed to feminine minds, was discussed by Local Council of Women at their Monday meeting.

Prof. C. S. Burchill, Professor of Economics and History at Royal Roads Services College, was guest speaker, and gave the basis, origin, workings and many policies of GATT (General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade) formed after Second World War in order to get world trade back into working order.

Prof. Burchill pointed out the relationships and balance in international trade, also noting the lack of balance in many instances. Through a series of charts and illustrations, he explained the reasons behind many trade policies and the necessity of tariffs.

A point of interest that was made very clear through the use of a six-country products chart, was the practice of Britain's paying countries with whom they trade in different types of sterling, thus restricting that country's buying power in corresponding countries.

The percentage of Canadian stocks being bought by United States concerns in payment for consumable products was also brought to the fore. Prof. Burchill explained that the number of American buyers in ratio to Canadian holders had not increased very much, but that comparison between what was being sold—permanent stocks—and what was being bought—consumable products—was most unsatisfactory.

SURPLUS SUPPLIES

The problem of surplus, which brought questions from the floor, was discussed, with an explanation being given as to why surplus cannot simply be given away. An example was given of India, where a gift of surplus Canadian wheat would be a blessing for the individuals who could afford none, but might be the downfall of the overall economic system of that country, for the surplus wheat would take the place of the wheat grown by men of India whose livelihood depends on the land.

Trade and payment for goods posed another problem, with large firms finding it impossible to complete a cycle of trade and being left with quantities of foreign currency which is unacceptable in other countries.

Miss J. E. M. Bruce expressed the council's thanks to Prof. Burchill. A guest of the meeting was Mrs. H. S. Armstrong, president of the Provincial Council of Women, who is visiting from Vancouver.

Why your child needs your help when pimples strike

by MARCELLA HOLMES NOTED BEAUTY AUTHORITY

(Former Beauty Editor of "Glamour" magazine)

Of all the mail that reaches a beauty editor's desk, there is none so urgent as letters from adolescent girls with pimples. That's why I want to alert mothers to the double dangers of this problem. Specialists warn that pimples undermine poise and self-confidence, can cause permanent damage to a child's personality. And everyone knows that acne-type pimples, if neglected, can leave permanent scars on the skin. Is there a way you can help your child? Yes, thanks to CLEARASIL, a modern, scientific medicated formulation espe-dially for pimples. In actual clinical tests, CLEARASIL brought positive relief in a high percentage of cases. Gradual, fast-drying, anti-septic... CLEARASIL dries pimples surgically fast. Ends embarrassment immediately because CLEARASIL is skin-softening in its pimples as it works. Must work for you as it did in clinical tests or money back. Only 45¢ and $1.25 at all drugstores.

WHY GROW OLD?

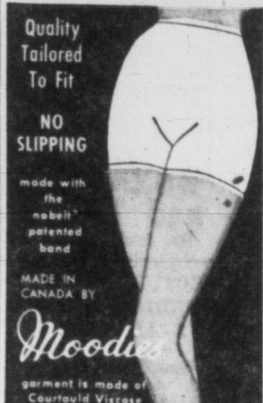

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Long Hair Is All Right; After All, Men Like It

The extremely short or the medium-short haircut has been in vogue for so long that we sometimes forget that many women still have long hair. Rather than being old-fashioned, long hair is quite modern in that the woman who has it is independent in deciding

"permaband"
briefs and panties
in various styles with the waistband guaranteed.

what is most becoming to her, in adapting fashion to her own individuality.

Short hair has been popular for so long because it is adaptable to many coiffures if it is not too short and can be enhanced with extra hair pieces for more formal occasions. It is becoming to most women and it is so comfortable.

However, there are many very chic and stunning women and girls who wear their hair long, and let's face it, most men like long hair. At least they do not like the extreme cuts, which create a boyish or mannish appearance. If a woman has lovely tresses it seems a shame to shear them almost to the point of extinction.

The hair washing problem is greater for the woman with long hair. Today let me give you a few suggestions. Shampoo your hair either in the tub, basin or the shower. The tub is easier and is more luxurious. The water supports the weight of the hair and it doesn't matter how much you slosh the suds about.

Work the suds into the scalp well before folding up the ends and going to work on the hair. You will get fuller suds if you loop the ends up close to the scalp and rub them against the head. You can rinse your hair under the shower or the faucet or use one of the sprays which attach to the faucet.

The hair can be brushed while wet. You then can use a comb with wide, rather blunt teeth to straighten the strands out.

Actually long hair is not so much trouble as we think. The shampoo and the daily arrangement take a little longer but frequent trips to the hairdresser for haircuts, permanents and nightly pin curls are not a part of the picture.

If you have long hair and it is becoming to you take advantage of it with simple, classic arrangements. If you have long hair simply because you have not had the nerve to cut it off, then get rid of it. If you would just like a change you can always let it grow out again.

If you have either long hair or very short hair you might find that an in-between length is comfortable and lends itself to greater variety in styles. Anyway, do not be caught in the trap of sameness. A new hairdo or a new hat can sometimes snap a woman out of depression and at least adds fun to daily life.

Vancouver NPA Lists Candidates

VANCOUVER (BUP) — The civic Non-Partisan Association endorsed 11 candidates for civic office in 1956 at the annual meeting Monday night. Among the 11 were all the officeholders who chose to run for office again.

Chosen from a reported 32 nominees, the nominating committee's nominations for 11 civic offices were presented by ex-Alderman Alex Fisher.

The NPA candidates are: For city council: Ald. Donald E. McTaggart, Ald. George T. Cunningham, Ald. J. W. Cornett and Ald. Mrs. Anna E. Spratt. For school board: Trustee Fred M. Sharp, Trustee Reginald Atherton, Mrs. Everett (Jean) Crowley, and C. George Robson.

For park board: George Wainborn and William G. Calder.

Everet King was nominated for a one-year term to replace the late Milton Owen.

Retiring NPA president John Dunsmuir, in an address prior to nominations, pointed out that only one of 14 NPA nominees, a park board candidate, had been defeated in 1954.

Chamber Optimistic About Ferry Talks

Chamber of Commerce officials are optimistic concerning the outcome of talks planned Wednesday with Union Steamships representatives on the need for a fast ferry service between Sidney and the mainland.

J. F. Ellis, Union Steamships' general manager, told Chamber secretary Hector Crombie today he "concurred with most of the thoughts expressed" in the report of the Chamber's ferry committee.

The committee has suggested a four-trip daily service between Swartz Bay and Steveston or White Rock using a fast, general purpose ferry-type ship to carry passengers and any kind of wheeled traffic, including motor vehicles carrying freight.

Mr. Ellis and Senator Stan McKeen, president of Union Steamships, say they are "definitely interested" in providing a year-round service if it can be operated profitably.

"Mr. Ellis told me today that he is very impressed with the contents of our report on the ferry," Mr. Crombie said.

The Wednesday meeting to be held in the Chamber board room at 2:30 p.m. will be closed to press and public but a statement will be issued afterwards.

Heading the ferry committee at the meeting will be G. F. Dunn, president of the Chamber, supported by T. G. Denny, J. R. Genge, Captain W. R. Stacey, G. H. Wheaton, G. C. Parrott, G. I. Warren and Hector Crombie.

Mr. Ellis is expected to arrive here by plane from Vancouver at 2 p.m.

He believes that specialized equipment would be needed since the type of craft now operated by Union Steamships Ltd. on northern service would not be suitable for a motor ferry service.

"A year-round schedule would be the only type of service we could operate successfully," he said.

Mr. Ellis emphasized that a thorough survey of the run and the costs involved would have to be made first.

"We hope to get down to a solid, practical survey of the situation at our meeting tomorrow," Mr. Crombie declared.

AA—Civic Class BB—Worthwhile Afternoon C—To Put It This

(BB PLUS) "MY SISTER EILEEN" (Odeon): Although somewhat tardy in getting under way, Columbia's "My Sister Eileen" gathers momentum to become a much better than average Hollywood musical.

Director Richard Quine cleverly mixes up song-and-dance routines with the well-known story of Ruth (Betty Garrett) and Eileen (Janet Leigh) Sherwood who have arrived from the country to make their name in New York. Ruth is determined to be a writer while Eileen is equally determined to be an actress.

The girls rent a basement apartment from fast-talking artist Appopolous (Kurt Kasznar) only to learn that it is open to prying eyes from the street above, to water gushing from the street cleaner and the suspicious eye of the local cop who thinks the girls are something other than they are. Every now and then the joint rocks to the detonations as blasting on the subway continues.

IN ADDITION TO THE housing problems older sister Ruth also has, other, more personal problems . . . She can't get a boy because they all look at Eileen. Therefore, when she finally meets publisher Bob Baker (Jack Lemmon) and he not only wants to publish her story but woo her as well, she tells him that the Eileen of her book is but a fictitious character which naturally causes all sorts of comedy situations. Meanwhile Eileen is discovering that becoming an actress isn't all that it is cracked up to be, that directors and theatrical agents aren't all Boy Scouts. She finds drugstore counter manager Frank Lippencott (Robert Fosse) a welcome relief.

The comedy situation in "My Sister Eileen" is excellent and most of the dances and tunes are quite gay. But surely in a musical one should be able to expect tolerably good voices. Only here, in our opinion, did "Eileen" fail to measure up to the spanking good musical it should have been.

Feature at 1:30, 3:15, 5:15, 7:15, 9:15

Winnipeg Ballet On Comeback Trail

WINNIPEG (BUP) — The Royal Winnipeg Ballet, back on its feet following a disastrous fire, opened its 16th season in the Playhouse here Sunday night.

The 22-member troupe performed to a full appreciative audience and thus capped a 17-month comeback from near-oblivion. The group will perform here again tonight and Wednesday night and then strike out on a two-week tour of other western Canadian cities. Included in the tour are stops at Edmonton, Vancouver and Victoria.

Water Crisis Hits Nanaimo

NANAIMO — Diver George Knight prepared today to make a second attempt at finding the cause of a blockage in the city's water main that cut the water supply by 40 per cent.

C. F. Newcombe, commissioner, Greater Nanaimo Water District, suspected either severe silting in the main, or an underwater slide in the reservoir at South Forks dam at the main's inlet.

Four inches of ice on the dam and the freezing of air lines forced Knight to abandon attempts Monday, but rising temperatures and a change in the weather gave hope of success for this afternoon.

After three days of temperatures that drove the thermometer at Cassidy airport to a low of 3.8 degrees, minimum overnight rose to 13.8 degrees, and a maximum of 28 degrees was expected during the day.

The severe temperatures aggravated the water situation as hundreds of householders left taps running to prevent pipes from freezing.

After attending 14 alarms on the weekend, firemen had a quiet Monday with only one chimney fire reported.

Wood fuel has been reported in short supply during the cold spell, with some suppliers promising delivery in three months.

Young Coupon Savers Aid Anglican Church

LADYSMITH — A concerted coupon collecting drive came to an end here with the presentation of a set of kitchen utensils to St. John's Anglican Church by the junior auxiliary.

They were accepted by Rev. D. B. Houghton, who turned them over to the women's auxiliary for the new kitchen in the church hall.

Others in the junior auxiliary who took part in the ceremony were Corine Kaake, Janet Davis, Donna Piece, Judy Robertson, Isobel Davidson, Avis Hartley, Sandra Smith and Jacqueline Grouhel.

FIRE TRUCK FREEZES, BLAZE DESTROYS HOME

SOUTH WELLINGTON—Frozen fire-fighting equipment late Sunday stopped possible saving of a four-room home here which burned to the ground.

The home, in which William G. Harvey had been living, was empty at the time, the Harvey family having moved to Nanaimo.

Eight volunteer firefighters, led by the chief, Norman Daye, were alerted to the blaze at 10 p.m., but when they arrived on the scene with fire truck, booster, tank and hose, equipment was frozen solid.

"We got there fast enough but there was nothing we could do," said Mr. Daye. He had no idea how the blaze started in the empty one-storey home.

Loss was estimated at several thousand dollars.

The house had been rented to James Penney, and was due to be occupied Monday.

POLIO VACCINE WORKS; 1-SHOT PLAN URGED

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Even a single shot of Salk polio vaccine sliced paralytic polio in the United States this year 50 to 80 per cent, an official preliminary government report declared today.

The report was called "awfully good news—the vaccine works."

Some polio experts say the results are so good that all available vaccine might best be used to give single shots immediately to as many children as possible. They argue that single shots, spread as quickly as possible among the estimated 60,000,000 Americans under 21, would be the fastest way of building up immunity to curb or prevent polio epidemics.

In a short time, they foresee eradication of polio.

FAURE HANDED NEW SETBACK

PARIS (UP)—The French senate handed Premier Edgar Faure a crushing defeat tonight by defeating by a thumping majority his bill calling for December elections.

Parliamentary observers said the defeat could plunge the country into its 21st post-war political crisis.

Driver Dies In Qualicum Truck Crash

QUALICUM BEACH—Elmer Grandberg, 33, of Campbell River, was killed near here Monday at 2 p.m. when his small panel truck struck the rear end of a Highways Department truck one mile north of Bowser.

Force of the impact sheared off a large part of the right side of the small truck, police said. Dr. M. Urie, Parksville, was called to the scene, but found Grandberg dead.

The crew of the government truck was sanding a hill, and had stopped the large vehicle while a workman loosened the load. He said the small truck neither swerved nor slowed down as it approached.

Remains were taken to Courtenay, where an inquest will be held Wednesday afternoon, with Coroner T. Menzies presiding.

The accident victim is survived by his widow and a daughter at Campbell River, and his mother in Nanaimo.

Reds Reveal 4th Plan on Disarmament

GENEVA (UP)—The Soviet Union introduced a new proposal on disarmament today, shortly after the West rejected three other Moscow proposals on a European security treaty and withdrawal of foreign troops from Germany.

The disarmament plan called for a four-power declaration pledging the Big Four to refrain from the use of force. It called also for continued consideration of Soviet and western disarmament proposals, including President Eisenhower's "open sky" plan.

The western Big Three planned to issue a declaration to the German people tonight or Wednesday, laying the blame for failure of the foreign ministers conference to unify Germany on the Soviet Union.

EX-B.C. PAIR BOUGHT $125,000 INSURANCE

CHICAGO (AP)—Two former British Columbians, victims of the United Airlines plane crash caused by a dynamite-bomb, purchased $125,000 of insurance before starting the trip, lawyer W. W. Browning said today.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Morgan, of Wilmette, Ill., each purchased the maximum amount of coverage, $62,500, at an insurance machine at Chicago's Midway Airport.

Browning represents the couple's two minor children, who were named beneficiaries.

The Morgans formerly resided in Vancouver, B.C. The plane crashed Nov. 1 near Longmont, Colo., and John Gilbert Graham confessed in Denver Monday that he rigged the bomb that wrecked the plane in flight.

(Compiled From AP and UP Dispatches)
DENVER—Jack Graham told a reporter Monday night he rigged 25 sticks of dynamite into a time-bomb that shattered an airliner in mid-air, Nov. 1, killing his mother and 43 others.

He said that after he put his mother—and the bomb—aboard the plane, he waited in the airport coffee shop until he heard the plane had been wrecked. Then he took his wife and child to the home his mother had helped him to buy.

Ironically, it cost the mother—Mrs. Daisie E. King, 54—$27.82 to get the time-bomb aboard the plane.

Graham had hidden the bomb in her suitcase, making her luggage 27 pounds overweight.

He did it for $37,500 in air-trip insurance—but he can't collect; his mother didn't sign the policies he purchased in a 25-cent insurance machine in Denver airport.

Graham, 23-year-old convicted forger, on whom his mother doted, told the story of the bombing to David Stokberg of the Rocky Mountain News, a Denver newspaper.

He said he plotted construction of the bomb for nearly two weeks.

Into it went 25 sticks of dynamite, several pounds of packing, a timing device, a six-volt dry-cell battery, and two dynamite caps.

The bomb was designed to explode 90 minutes after the time-clock was set.

The explosion in the United Airlines' plane occurred just 11 minutes after the airliner left Denver.

Graham said he unpacked part of the contents of a large suitcase—belonging to his mother and replaced them with the bomb.

"I placed this suitcase in the trunk of my car with another smaller suitcase and a briefcase which my mother was to take with her on the trip," he said. She was going to Anchorage, Alaska, to visit a daughter.

Eden Blocks Probe On Church, State

'Separation Would Be Detrimental'

(UP, Reuters Dispatches)
LONDON—Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden rejected today a Laborite's demand for separation of Church and State as a result of Princess Margaret's shattered romance.

Eden refused to consider the proposal for an independent investigation into relationships between the government and Britain's established church. The suggestion came from Labor member of parliament Stephen Swinger, whose grand-uncle was Archbishop of Canterbury and head of the established Church of England early in this century.

"No representations in favor of disestablishment have been received from a responsible representative body," Eden said.

WIDENING GAP

Swinger, posing the question in Commons, explained that the romance of Margaret and RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend, a divorced man, revealed the "widening gap" between the laws of the land and the doctrines of the church which does not recognize divorce.

He pointed out that both the Church of England and the Free Church Federal Council, made up of other Protestant denominations, had each appointed commissions to investigate the problem.

"Both reports indicate that separation of the church and state at the present juncture would be to the detriment of the church and the nation," Eden said.

Eden is in a particularly ticklish spot—he is a divorced man and his second marriage, to a niece of Sir Winston Churchill, is not recognized by the church. Yet as prime minister, he participates in the selection of archbishops and bishops of the church.

IRLOGICAL

On Sunday, the rural Dean of Hammersmith told a congregation in historic St. Paul's Cathedral that the present situation is "blasphemous." And today, the Laborite Daily Herald and the Conservative Daily Express joined in calling for disestablishment of the Church of England.

"Nobody will deny that it is illogical to have bishops appointed by prime ministers who have included a Welsh Baptist, a Scottish Presbyterian and a Unitarian," said the Herald. "A prime minister who happens to belong to the Church of Rome is always an interesting possibility."

George Gale, writing in the Daily Express, said "there is nothing like the established Church of England anywhere else in the world."

"Its most fundamental beliefs are set out in a schedule to an act of parliament. The head of the church is the head which happens to wear the crown," he said.

Gale said the "union between church and state has produced

Where Three Fishermen Met Death

Icy tomb for three Vancouver fishermen was the hull of the seiner Westerner, discovered Monday beached on the shore of Saturna Island. Cause of death was gas poisoning, Victoria coroner E. C. Hart said today. Photo was taken from a Vancouver Island Helicopter Ltd. helicopter by Times photographer Bill Halkett. 'Copter was piloted by Ted Henson.

Gas Poisoning Blamed in Deaths Of Three Fishermen at Saturna

Carbon monoxide gas today was swept overboard while the death has been set. It was first believed the ship might have been swept on her side by raging seas after striking a reef, but photos taken this morning from a Vancouver Island Helicopters Ltd. helicopter showed no signs of hull damage above the waterline.

Westerner had not been reported missing or overdue. Position of light switches indicated the tragedy occurred at night, but no definite time of Westerner was on an even keel, on a shelving beach, when seen by the Money brothers. But she was holed below the waterline, and a tangle of floating wreckage inside the hull made recovery of the bodies difficult.

Two of the three bodies have been identified as: Marian Go-vorchin, 54, 2781 McGill Street, Vancouver, owner of the Westerner, and Bob Sulca, about 60, also of Vancouver.

The third body has not been identified. Aboard the seiner when she left Vancouver last week were four men. The other two were Joe Martinic and Ed Jones, both from Vancouver.

The fourth man may have been at the wheel of the ship on the flying bridge while the other three slept in their bunks in the fore-cabin.

Theory is that the helmsman who watched their fish packer burn and sink as they took to the dinghy in the teeth of an icy night wind have told how other boats passed their flaming vessel without answering a distress signal or noticing the fire.

Edward Buszowski, cook, Engineer Robert Wood and Mate Jonas Thompson of the B.C. Packers fish boat Fir Leaf told here how they fought a losing battle against fire for an hour Thursday night before lighting a distress flare and taking to the lifeboat. Two boats passed near by, they said, but neither answered the SOS signal.

A fourth survivor, Capt. A. Woie, is in hospital at Alert Bay, but is expected to be removed to Vancouver later today. All four men suffered from exposure after spending a shivering night on the beach. The blaze aboard the Fir Leaf broke out in the engine room off the mouth of the Adams River, south of Alert Bay.

Buszowski said the crew fought desperately to keep the flames from reaching fuel tanks containing 600 gallons of oil. When fire extinguishers were exhausted they ripped up the galley floor and tried to put out the flames below with water.

Th' four foreign ministers seem t' be gittin' foreigner all th' time.

U.S. attorney Donald E. Kelly said today "it appears 44 murders are involved."

Graham's wife apparently was unaware of his act until his confession to FBI officials Monday.

She became hysterical and now is under a doctor's care.

In addition to the child who accompanied them to the airport, the Grams have a nine-month-old daughter, Susan. Graham is, technically, heir to one-quarter of his mother's $150,000 estate.

The mother had doted on him all his life. She paid back $2,500 of the $4,200 he stole by forgery at the age of 19. She made the $5,000 down-payment on his Denver home. She built a $35,000 drive-in restaurant so she could lease it to her son, to put him in business.

Dr. Earl J. Miller, Mrs. King's family physician for 20 years, said today Graham "bordered" on a "mechanical genius."

Dr. Miller said he went hunting with Graham a week before the airliner was bombed. He recalled Graham saying: "If you want some action, shoot at that shack." The building contained dynamite.

Elvin West, a neighbor said Graham "once told me he'd do anything for money. He didn't seem to have much feeling for people."

The idea for the bombing of the United Airlines plane may have come from Canada.

On Sept. 9, 1949, a time-bomb shattered a Canadian Pacific airliner in mid-air, 40 miles from Quebec City. Twenty-three persons were killed.

J. Albert Guay, Quebec City jeweler, was hanged for master-minding the plot, designed to kill his wife and free him for his mistress. Also hanged were his accomplices, Generaux Ruest, crippled watchmaker who fashioned the bomb, and Mrs. Arthur Pitre, Ruest's sister, who placed it aboard the plane.
